THREE WARSHIPS SUNK IN FIGHT

Baker Warning Political Move, Asserts Willcox

PROSECUTE VILLA RAID PLOTTERS, IS DEMAND

Secretary of War Tells the Troops at Border Scheme on Foot to Embarrass the Administration Before Election

AMERICANS ARE NOT SUSPECTED, IT IS SAID

Officials Decline to Give Out Source of the Report That Was Not Learned at Front Until Official Message Came

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—National Republican Chairman Willcox of the Republican committee threw down the gauntlet to the Democratic party today in a statement declaring that if the War Department's information that Americans are encouraging a Villa raid, I demand that they immediately proceed to prosecute them for treason.

Willcox ridiculed Baker and attacked him in violent terms for his attitude on the border situation.

Willcox said:

This is just another political drive of the Democrats, which will fail just as all the other drives have failed.

In view of Secretary Lansing's statement in the morning papers, Mr. Baker was guilty either of amazing stupidity or of a disingenuous attempt to charge the information that Americans are encouraging a Villa raid, I demand that they immediately proceed to prosecute them for treason.

Willcox said:

The careful phrasing by Mr. Baker shows an attempt to make political capital out of what he appears to have regarded as an impending disaster on the Mexican border. This political capital was to be gained by charging that enemies of Mr. Wilson's policy with regard to Mexico were behind it and that the attack was a take place between now and election.

Vance McCormick, chairman of the Democratic party, merely shrugged his shoulders when told of the statement, declaring:

I am running a political campaign, not the War Department.

CHANNEL VALUABLE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—War and state department officials refused today to disclose the source of specific information on which Secretary Baker last night issued a statement charging that a bandit attack on American troops in Mexico was being planned to discredit the government's Mexican policy. They said the channel of information through which the report came was so valuable that nothing would be given out that might injure its usefulness.

Both Secretary Lansing and Secretary Baker today laid stress on the statement that no consideration of Democratic politics had entered into the announcement that such a plot had been discovered. "The obviously appropriate comment of the secretary of state," Secretary Baker said, referring to the statement by Secretary Lansing last night that no American was implicated, "precludes the possibility that any such construction or any understanding could be put on my statement. The statement was without political purpose and ought to be left to the political effect. It will have served its entire purpose if it serves notice upon the lawless people in Mexico that we have been warned and are prepared."

"INTEREST ABSURD."

Secretary Baker said it was "absurd" to suppose that his statement had been intended to imply that any political interest in the United States desired anything other than peace any advertisement on their part in that direction.

Everybody knows that many

The Mexicans who oppose the de facto government in Mexico would, of course, be glad to complicate relations between the United States and Mexico and our information is that they think this an appropriate time to do so. The statement made last night by the department ought to discourage any advertisement on their part in that direction.

Everybody knows that many

Fail to Oust Berkeley Land Co. Directors

Officers of Company, Under Fire in Court, Winners by Decision

Defendants in two suits involving land valued at $250,000 and salaries amounting to several thousand dollars were awarded judgments in the superior courts of Judge W. H. Donahue and William Conley today, when Cassar Ehlers and C. W. Young, minority stockholders in the Greater Berkeley Land Company, lost their suits.

Ehlers had filed suit against W. N. Tapscott and George Horne in an effort to oust them from the directorate of the Greater Berkeley Land Company, alleging that they had been guilty of fraud in that they had sold to that corporation the Toler Heights tract and stock in the East Bay Realty company, owners of the Richmond Junction and Richmond Junction Heights tracts.

Young's suit was directed against Tapscott, Horne and a number of others, alleging that they had held themselves appointed officers of the consolidated land concerns, and paid themselves large salaries in an illegal manner. Young, representing the minority stockholders, sued for the return of the money paid out in salaries.

Judge Conley held that no fraud had been committed in the matter of payment of salaries, and Judge Donahue held likewise in the matter of consolidating the two outside concerns with the Greater Berkeley Company. The plaintiffs made the allegation that the Greater Berkeley Company was a solvent concern, while the other two land propositions were not.

The salary suits were directed against Tapscott, Horne, E. B. Keyes, E. R. Murdock, Vivian Bronson and A. L. Farrington as officers of the Greater Berkeley Land Company. The officers sought to be ousted from the land concerns' board of directors were Tapscott, Keyes, Horne, Murdock and Miss Bronson.

Big British Liner Rowanmore Is Sunk

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The Johnson liner Rowanmore, lying the British flag, has been sunk.

The Rowanmore is one of the largest British liners sunk since the beginning of the war. She was a steel screw four-master, displacing 10,230 tons, 521 feet long with a 55.2-foot beam. She was built in 1900 and was owned by the Johnson Line, Ltd., being registered from Liverpool.

The Rowanmore's captain was taken prisoner. The cable thus indicates that the liner was sunk by a submarine. The crew was landed.

Given 5-Day Sentence in Lieu of Alimony

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—Joseph H. Wisner, bookkeeper for the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, was sentenced to five days in the county jail by Superior Judge Van Nostrand this morning for failure to pay $50 alimony to his wife, Julia Heffernan. He did not appear, although the case had been twice postponed when he did not answer a summons.

When Mrs. Heffernan filed her divorce complaint she charged that when her second child was only an hour old her husband went to a ball game, and that on one occasion he gave his mother-in-law $50, telling her that when his wife left the money should be handed over to her.

Attorney Wisner Is Guilty, Says Court

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—F. D. Wisner, attorney, arrested Tuesday in connection with the case of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, was found guilty today in Judge Oppenheim's court of assaulting Ferdinand Jadin, an actor.

Jadin was struck on the head with a piece of pipe as he emerged from a car in company with Ingrid Ingegnsen, actress. Wisner will be sentenced Wednesday.

MECUM OFF AS WARRANT IS ISSUED

Orland Youth Pledged Yesterday to Wed Marie Nickel in S. F. Vanishes As the Tragic Wedding Party Waits in Vain

Relatives Declare Selves Much in Mystery and Attorney for Unhappy Girl Demands That Judge Issue Order for Arrest

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—Maurice Mecum, the Orland youth accused of betraying Marie Nickel, has disappeared and today at the bond and warrant clerk's office the girl for the first time since her affair was made public, gave way to tears, realizing that her expected marriage was for ever, it is feared, consummated. Police Judge Matthew Brady, informed of the fact that Mecum had left the city, promptly issued a warrant for his arrest on a felony charge, fixing bail at $5000 bonds or $2000 cash. This was done despite the fact that the alleged crime was committed out of this county and that other police judges were of the opinion that there was no local jurisdiction. Attorney for the unhappy girl, Mrs. Edith Nickel, hinted that there had been juggling with the processes of the law and there might be an investigation as to the activity of relatives of young Mecum in splitting him away from the clutches of the court.

GIRL BUOYANT

Accompanied by her mother, a girl chum and a woman friend, Miss Nickel appeared bright and buoyant at the district attorney's office promptly at 9:30. Mecum, against whom a warrant was applied for yesterday, had promised, through his cousin, Frank Framey, to be on hand. He was not there.

"The boy has disappeared completely," explained Framey, and this was his opinion of the activity of relatives of young Mecum in splitting him away from the clutches of the court.

"We were about to get a warrant yesterday when they represented that they would have the boy here today," said the attorney. "We have no idea where he is except that he must have gone to Orland. He was only here on a vacation."

Attorney Baker was quite free with his opinion that they had been juggling with the law's processes.

"We were about to get a warrant yesterday when they represented that they would have the boy here today," said the attorney. "We have no idea where he is except that he must have gone to Orland. He was only here on a vacation."

WARRANT ISSUES

It took an hour to convince the officials that Judge Brady could sign the warrant in view of the fact that Mecum was evidently out of the county. According to Baker, he has been working here and is really a local resident.

Miss Nickel, who claims to have been everything to Mecum, expected to see him and gave way to tears as the minutes rolled by and he did not come. She had to be led away by her mother and friends following the issuing of the warrant.

Japanese Burglar Ring Is Sought

Secret Service Bureau Hunts Members

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—Operations of a ring of Japanese housemaids and butlers systematically robbing the fashionable homes of the city employers along the peninsula and east bay cities were revealed today when it became known that operatives of a private secret service bureau are quietly at work in the Oriental quarter of San Francisco.

San Jose, Sacramento and Stockton for suspects. For three months the ring of thieves have been working, netting thousands of dollars in precious loot.

Mails learned the secret hiding places of their mistresses' jewels and disclosed them to the Japanese men servants. At night the Japanese butlers committed the thefts from the homes of the wealthy. Japanese men servants are said to have purchased loot while in other cases merchants in nearby cities acted as fences.

One of the latest robberies supposed to have been perpetrated by members of the gang and reported to the San Mateo county authorities was in the home of Mrs. J. H. Johnson, 423 Turner terrace, San Mateo, wife of a wealthy mining man. While Mrs. Johnson was asleep her bedroom was entered and jewels valued at $2000 were taken. They obtained a $1000 diamond circle with thirty-two stones, a ring with three diamonds valued at $500 and two smaller diamond rings valued at $100 each.

According to police records, the first work of the band was carried out three months ago at the home of Mrs. T. W. Kennedy at Thousand Oaks, Berkeley.

300 Passengers On French Ship Afire at Sea

Steamship Chicago Is Speeding Toward Azore Island

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Maritime Exchange this afternoon received a message reporting that the French liner Chicago was afire at sea and was speeding toward Fayal, one of the islands of the Azores group.

"Steamship Chicago, French, bound from Bordeaux to New York, fire in number three hold," read the message. "Expect arrive at Fayal today."

The Chicago left Bordeaux Sunday for New York and should have been several hundred miles west and north of the Azores today. Under ordinary conditions she carried 250 to 300 passengers on her western trip.

Officers of the French line reiterated late today that they had no confirmation of the report that the liner was afire.

The Chicago was due here next Monday or Tuesday. She is a 14,000-ton steamer, commanded by Captain Mace.

New Serum for Paralysis Is to Be Tried Here

University Experts Start Work on Collection of Possible Cure

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—Dr. William Palmer Lucas, professor of children's diseases at the University of California hospital in this city, has started the collection of a serum for the cure of infantile paralysis, discovered during the New York epidemic in November, 1915, in which he told of his plans to raise a serum on an eighty-acre ranch which his father was about to purchase for him in Glenn county.

Dr. Lucas' dream, had a modest beginning. It consisted of six hogs. It progressed to sixty and on to 600 in rapid steps, and so on to infinity, until at the end of five years he felt that he could retire to a home in this city with a fortune to spend. E. H. Hart, court clerk, did some rapid calculations, and estimated that Dr. Lucas' ranch would have given him a fortune of $3,600,000 at the end of five years. "But the dream burst," Dr. Lucas said, "before their child was born."

Border Duty Is Help in Court

Guardsman Need Not Pay Divorced Wife

No man who serves his country as a National Guardsman, Superior Judge Brown held today, should be made to pay for the support of his child when the child is in the care of his divorced wife. He made this ruling today when Violet Thrall Gleason, his former wife, sued for $550 a week for the support of their daughter.

"I was at the Mexican border for seven weeks as a corporal with the National Guard," Thrall told the court. "I received only $21 a month. Since I came back I have not paid the money because I thought I shouldn't pay since she has been remarried."

Judge Brown held that Thrall should not be compelled to pay for the child's support for the seven-week period that he served in the army. He instructed him to continue the other payments, however, advising him to bring the matter into the courts if he desires to have the amount reduced because of the marriage.

Dr. Liebknecht was sentenced for military treason. While his appeal was pending another court martial began action against him on the ground that he incited soldiers of the Thorn Garrison to rebellion.

Captain and Men Lost in Sinking of Cabotia

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Two boats containing the captain and thirty-one of the crew of the Donaldson liner Cabotia, are missing and unaccounted for.

This is the first intimation of the sinking of the Cabotia.

Big Steel Production Reported in Germany

BERLIN, Oct. 27.—The German steel syndicate reports the output in Germany last month was 1,393,000 tons, compared with 1,411,000 in August. The steel output in the first 9 months of the year was approximately 12,000,000 tons.

RICH MAN'S SON SAYS HE IS OFFICE BOY

George Dieckmann Tells Court He Cannot Pay Much Alimony on $15 Per Week; But Pretty Wife Wins $40 Plea

Judge Hears Story of Hogs and Happiness That Failed to Hold Couple Wedded After a Generous Courtship Here

George Dieckmann, son of J. H. Dieckmann, millionaire manufacturer of San Francisco, whose home is at 1776 Sixteenth street, Oakland, took the stand in Judge W. H. Wast's court today and testified that he could pay more than $25 a month for the support of his five-month-old son, George Edwin Jr., as he himself only received $15 a week as his father's office boy.

Nevertheless, Judge Wast ordered Dieckmann to pay $20 a month, to pay his wife $40 a month alimony pending the hearing of her divorce action, and also instructed him to pay $100 attorney's fees and $15 court costs. This was after the pretty wife, Mrs. Lillian D. Dieckmann, had testified that her husband was given $40 a week by his father, to be used as spending money.

DREAM BURST

The story of a burning dream, in which a projected Glenn county ranch formed the chief glory, was told by Mrs. Dieckmann when she took the stand with her child in her arms. She professed her story, however, with the remark that her young husband had never seen his son until she took him to court today. Then she read a letter to the court, which was dated in February of last year, in which her husband had written her, shortly after their marriage, in November, 1915, in which he told of his plans to raise a serum on an eighty-acre ranch which his father was about to purchase for him in Glenn county.

Dieckmann's dream, had a modest beginning. It consisted of six hogs. It progressed to sixty and on to 600 in rapid steps, and so on to infinity, until at the end of five years he felt that he could retire to a home in this city with a fortune to spend. E. H. Hart, court clerk, did some rapid calculations, and estimated that Dr. Lucas' ranch would have given him a fortune of $3,600,000 at the end of five years. "But the dream burst," Dr. Lucas said, "before their child was born."

ASKS FOR $25

Mrs. Dieckmann asked the court to order her husband to pay her $25 a week, but this was refused. In explaining the manner in which Dieckmann was accustomed to live, she said her husband had never given her more than $7 to $10 on any single outing which they enjoyed.

"Now he wants to give me $25 a month for myself and his child," she complained.

Pope Heads List of Belgian Contributors

ROME, Oct. 27.—Pope Benedict has sent to Cardinal Gibbons a contribution of 10,000 francs to head a list of contributions in the United States for the assistance of the children of Belgium. The Pope also addressed an apostolic letter to the Cardinal recommending that the Belgian Catholic Episcopacy, clergy and laity in America support the plan to provide a supplementary daily meal for the Belgian children to save them from starvation and disease.

The plan was presented to the Pope by George B. Baker of New York at the instance of Herbert C. Hoover, chairman of the American Commission for Relief in Belgium.

The papal letter depicts the suffering of the Belgian children and urges the happy children of America to assist them. The Pope expresses regret that the present conditions he is unable to do more.

Webb Says Speed Law Will Hold

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 27.—Autoists have no chance to escape the provisions of the state speed limit law through technicalities, according to Attorney General Webb today. He holds in an opinion today interpreting the various sections of the law.

A number of lawyers were of the opinion that the provision limiting the speed to ten miles an hour was so worded that it would not stand the test of the courts. Webb states emphatically, however, that the wording is not only plain as to meaning, but strictly legal.

The statement says that the empty transport Queen was sunk, its crew being saved.

Demands $1000 For Each Day He Was in Jail

Alleging False Imprisonment, Former Broker Sues Abstract Firm

George A. MacKeown of Cleveland, Ohio, spent forty-seven days in jail in 1915, and now he wants something more than $1000 for each day that he was there, according to a suit for false imprisonment which he filed in the superior court today against the Alameda County Abstract Company.

MacKeown complains that he was arrested in February of last year on a writ of habeas corpus. The arrest was made in Cleveland, and he was held there in prison for five days, after which he was brought to Oakland and held in the superior court today against the Alameda County Abstract Company.

Mackensen's Forces Continue Pursuit

BERLIN, Oct. 27.—Fleeing Rumanian forces are evacuating virtually all Dobruja, said an official statement from the Bulgarian war office today.

"On the whole front the enemy is retreating precipitately toward Tulcea, Braila and Harnova, pursued by our forces," said the statement issued at Sofia. "Wednesday's capture included fifteen officers, 771 men and fifteen machine guns."

Tulcea lies seventy miles north of Constantza, on the southern arm of the Danube and a few miles from the Russian frontier. Braila lies about seventy miles north of Cernavoda, on the Danube, and Harnova about twenty-five miles northwest of Cernavoda, on the Danube.

King Ferdinand Asks Aid

German military men expect an early demonstration by the allies, probably on the Italian and Macedonian fronts, in response to King Ferdinand's appeal. Because the allied armies lack sufficient artillery for great offensives, the Rumanian attacks are expected to be short-lived and directed largely for the destruction of the enemy's lines.

WAY CLEAR GREECE TO JOIN ALLIES

Understanding Is Reached Between King Constantine and Entente Powers As Conference Result; Terms Are Made

Compliance With Demands of Admiral Fournet, to Maintain Order in Athens, and to Guarantee Province Liberty

ATHENS, Oct. 27.—The understanding reached yesterday by King Constantine and representatives of the entente powers generally is believed to be the immediate result of the conference of the military and political leaders of France and Great Britain at Boulogne on Friday last. The terms of the understanding include on the part of Greece:

First—Sincere compliance with the demands of Admiral Fournet. Second—Effective maintenance of order in Athens and Piræus. Third—Guarantee of constitutional liberties to Greeks through the operation of the legal functions of their government. Fourth—No opposition to recruiting for the Venizelist movement, which now is characterized as "anti-Bulgarian" instead of "national defense."

The Forward, the royalist organ, today strikes the keynote of the situation, asserting: "The Boulogne conference has opened the way to a larger understanding between the powers and Greece."

One of the leaders of the Greek pro-war party declared to the Associated Press correspondent: "Now that the irritations due to mutual distrust of one another by King Constantine and the entente ministers is out of the way, we can go to work negotiating for Greece to join the allies as a nation and a people, not as individuals."

PASTOR SEALS HIS LIPS BEFORE COURT

Peter McFarlane, Former Minister of Alameda Church, Withholds Name.

Peter Clarke McFarlane, former Alameda minister, and at the present time a political writer and author of national reputation, testified in Superior Judge Wast's court yesterday, when he refused to give the name of a woman who had once sought his aid. The attorney, Howard Harren, insisted that McFarlane name the woman. McFarlane refused to do so.

McFarlane was called as a character witness to testify in a suit involving the transfer of stock in an alleged attempt to defraud Mrs. Laura G. Powell, widow, out of an interest in the Powell Bros. Construction Company, owned by her husband. William Zings testified that he had talked to the surviving brothers and advised them to protect the widow. McFarlane was called for the purpose of rebutting the testimony of Zings. "Nine years ago," said McFarlane, "I was pastor of the Unitarian church in Alameda, and I conducted a campaign against gamblers. Many people came to me and told me that their husbands were neglecting her and their children to gamble in Zings' place."

"Who was that woman?" asked Harren. "I will not give her name," McFarlane answered. "She came to me in confidence."

Harren then insisted, and the court made its order, but McFarlane narrowly avoided answering Harren's questions until the point was lost in the ensuing confusion. Other witnesses, including Police Constable of Alameda, testified against Zings, attacking his reputation.

POLITICS BEHIND WARNING, CHARGE

Secretary Baker's Action Is Scored by Republican Campaign Leader.

Mexicans in this country are constantly agitating against the de facto government. Any sympathy there may be on the American side of the border with the movement is wholly from this source. The only possible suggestion of a political purpose in the war department's statement is to prevent people in Mexico from creating a disturbance of a political character in furtherance of their own design.

LANSING ADVISES. Part of the information which led to his statement, the secretary said, reached him yesterday within a few minutes of the time he left to make a campaign speech in West Virginia. Baker, it was learned, took his advice up with Secretary Lansing and the latter is said to have advised that there be no delay in making public the substance of the information.

Secretary Lansing views the information, although somewhat indefinite, as showing a dangerous situation along the border. Publication of the fact that the government has taken steps to schemate such a movement he believes goes far toward preventing an attack, either upon a border town or upon General Pershing's forces.

Secretary Baker indicated that no immediate movement of General Pershing's columns is contemplated. He refused to say, however, whether orders had been given to meet an attack. He gave the impression that General Pershing and Pershing might have been directed to take certain steps of a retaliatory nature should an attack be made upon their forces.

GARCIA ON MISSION. EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 27.—Andres Garcia, inspector general of consuls for the Mexico de facto government, started for New York today on an urgent diplomatic mission for First Chief Carranza. A few days ago Garcia returned from Mexico City, following a conference with Carranza.

"The mission is not concerned with the American-Mexican mediation commission," he said, "but it does concern peace between the United States and Mexico."

The movements of Pancho Villa are being directed from El Paso by a junta of Mexicans and a few Americans, according to Garcia, who decried his secret service men have such evidence. Money is also being furnished from the American side to pay the soldiers under the bandit chief's leadership with silver and attempts have been made to smuggle ammunition across the border for the use of Villistas. These attempts have been frustrated.

An official statement from General Trevino, Carranza commander at Chihuahua City, made public at Juarez, announced that Villa has been obliged to leave his base at Santa Isabel and is now proceeding southward.

"Heavy engagements are likely to result soon," declared the statement. "The report that government officials advised residents to leave the city is untrue."

SOCIETY WOMAN'S CASE IN COURT

Judgment Suspended When Relative Explains She Drove Auto Correctly.

"Judgment suspended" was the declaration announced this morning by Police Judge George Samuels in the case of Miss Lurana Denison, 346 Seaview avenue, prominent society woman, member of the board of directors of the West Oakland Home and well-known charity worker, who was charged with driving in her automobile past a street car which had stopped to discharge passengers. Miss Denison did not appear in court, but a statement was made in her behalf by her brother-in-law, Richard B. Ayer.

Miss Denison was arrested last night at Twenty-second and Broadway by Traffic Officers A. Gervin and C. J. Keefe and released on $10 bail. Ayer declared this morning that his sister-in-law did not pass the car, but turned aside into Twenty-second street. The traffic officers maintained that she drove very close to the car in making the turn and violated the ordinance which provides for a ten-foot leeway.

Diver in U. S. Rumor Is Denied

Washington Hears of Arrival at Norfolk

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Unofficial reports reached the navy department this afternoon that a German submarine had arrived at Norfolk, Va. The department refused to discuss the reports.

Private advices from Norfolk said no submarine had been sighted in the harbor and that observers at Cape Henry had sighted none.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Oct. 27.—The report on the water-front here that a submarine had passed in the capes could not be verified by the weather observer at Cape Henry or by naval observers at Fort Monroe. The truth of the report was scouted at Cape Henry.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 27.—"Possibly a war submarine," said officials of the Eastern Forwarding Company this afternoon when told of the report that a German submarine had arrived off Norfolk. Hilken could not be reached but it was said at the Hanna headquarters that the company would have known if a commercial U-boat had been near the American coast.

They were inclined to doubt the report.

U. S. IS ACCUSED IN DIVER CASES

Warship Rescuers Said to Have Aided Germany and Violated Neutrality Rules.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Some utterances of the feeling that the activity of American warships in rescuing passengers from the vessels sunk by the German submarine U-53 off the American coast amounted to a breach of neutrality, were made yesterday in the House of Lords by Lord Bessborough and Baron Sydenham. Lord Bessborough is recognized by the country as spokesman for the many in the House of Lords. Similar opinions have been expressed by some of the newspapers and public men, as well as by naval officers, and the matter was brought up for discussion by requests for information from Viscount Grey, secretary for foreign affairs, regarding the American policy and possible action by the British government.

Viscount Grey's reply was that the matter was one between the American Government and Germany. While stating that the British government was not yet informed as to whether any acts of the U-53 constituted a breach of neutrality, he promised to President Wilson, he declared that German submarines had committed violations of that pledge in other waters many times.

PARTICULARS DESIRED. The submarine question was brought forward by Lord Sydenham, who asked if the particulars of the sinking of the British steamer Stepano and whether the circumstances were in accordance with the German pledge to the United States. He referred "to the activities of the U-53 under the very eyes of the American Navy and the declaration of President Wilson that he had resulted in the German pledge. Lord Sydenham declared:

"Even before the exploits of the U-53 that pledge was torn to shreds, and the government of the United States has made no sign whatever that the sinking of neutral ships goes on almost every day. The Norwegians have lost eight vessels in this month, and what must small neutrals think of their powerful representative?"

WARSHIPS AIDED. No life, he said, was lost because of the presence of American warships. Lord Sydenham took the position that the presence of American warships actually enabled Germany to defy what he said President Wilson had described as a sacred and indisputable rule of international law. Baron Bessborough expressed the opinion that Germany intended to bring America into the war, so as to be able to say she could not fight the whole world, and also because the United States would be a valuable asset to her at the peace conference, saying:

"The United States are really rather aiding and abetting this serious state of affairs. If the United States had not sent their ships, which for some extraordinary reason happened to be on the spot to save life, the Germans would no doubt have broken the pledge to which their attention had been called. I think we are bound to take notice of a fact which does not appear to be quite within the bounds of neutrality so far as the United States are concerned."

GREY'S STATEMENT. Foreign Secretary Grey said: "We have no understanding with the United States Government as to what information they are going to get or what they will do with the information when they have obtained it. All we can do is to obtain information for ourselves from such sources as are open to us, and these sources in this case I imagine are officers in charge of the merchant vessels, all of whom have survived whom we can have access and from whom we can get their individual statements of what happened."

PASTOR DEPOSED AFTER HEARING

Bigamy and Other Charges Are Placed Against Minister in New York.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Oct. 27.—Arthur Worthington, former pastor of the Presbyterian church in New Hamburg, N. Y., has been deposed from the ministry and excommunicated from the Presbyterian church by a trial commission of ministers and laymen of the North River Presbytery. He was adjudged guilty of bigamy, swindling, fraud and blasphemy. The evidence secured after two years' investigation showed that Worthington had nine wives and was known under eleven aliases. His right name is Samuel Oakley Crawford. Records show he served two prison terms for fraud, one in Albany, N. Y., and one in Melbourne, Australia. His operations covered the United States, Europe and the Antilles. In his activities he secured by false pretenses more than $500,000. It is alleged. The deposed minister disappeared from Poughkeepsie five weeks ago.

$15,000,000 From Canada to U. S.

Total Is $450,000,000 So Far This Year

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Gold amounting to $15,000,000 from Canada, was deposited at the assay office today by J. P. Morgan and Company, acting as fiscal and commercial agents of the British government. This makes a total of $150,000,000 received thus far this year, chiefly by way of Canada and virtually all for account of British and allied interests. It is believed that the notation next week of the new $300,000,000 British loan will bring a temporary halt to further imports of the metal. This is in accordance with the views of conservative American banking interests, which are opposed to a further inflow of gold on the ground that it may be provocative of inflation.

TWO MEN KILLED IN GAS EXPLOSION

Enter Room Full of Fumes; Would-be Rescuers Also Overcome.

KEOKUK, Iowa, Oct. 27.—Henry Bierman, foreman, and George Renshaw were asphyxiated today following an explosion in a room of the Keokuk Electric Company's gas plant. When the explosion occurred Bierman and Renshaw were in another room. They went into the gas-filled chamber and were overcome. Efforts by employees and firemen to rescue them alive failed. Fire Chief John Anderson, Assistant Chief William Burris and Driver Harry Teeters were overcome by gas while trying to effect a rescue, but were resuscitated.

SHAKESPEARE WELL TOLD TO EYE

Bushman More Faust Than Romeo; But Play Is Success.

By THE FLANEUR.

As I sat in the Reliance theater yesterday afternoon, idly watching pictorial news and animated cartoons while waiting for the beginning of "Romeo and Juliet"—the first film appearance in Oakland of one of the immortal bard's plays—I wished that the seat beside me might have been filled by the shade of William Shakespeare (or Francis Bacon, if you prefer). His comments would have been illuminating. I would have liked to know if he thought that a tenth of the spirit of a poetical drama can be conveyed to the spectator in action alone. I do not—but then I am not a movie fan. Neither was William (or Francis).

After he had become accustomed to tenders, cut-backs, fade-aways, close-ups and visions-in, I think that he would have rather enjoyed the unreciting of the story of the star-crossed lovers. He was fond of paganism, and the historical correctness of costumes and settings would have pleased him. He had no nice avoidance of anachronisms, so he would not have been struck particularly by the incongruity of a knight of Verona writing missives in English, nor would he have been perturbed by the organ accompaniment of twentieth century music.

But I think that he would have expressed an objection to Francis X. Bushman as Romeo. Not to his acting, for that was spirited and consistent, but to his age. I am well aware that the same objection must be made to practically all theatrical Romances and nearly all Julietts, for the actor's apprenticeship is long and time is no respecter of faces and figures. On the stage, distance and the mysteries of make-up may bring about a temporary illusion, but the camera is pitiless. I think that William would have found it as difficult as I did to pretend that the mature figure was that of an amorous stripling in his teens.

MORE A FAUST.

In fact, Bushman's semi-classical profile, maturity of expression and robustness of limb reminded me again and again of Glauco in "The Last Days of Pompeii," and I had to keep pulling my imagination down several centuries. His Romeo was too sophisticated, too suggestive of a man of pleasures whose fancy is suddenly caught and enthralled by a vision of virgin loveliness. He was more a Faust than a Romeo.

There was a refreshing freedom from the breast-heaving, ranting type of screen love making and but sparing use was made of the close-up. The acting throughout was spontaneous and well sustained by all the major characters. Miss Beverly Bayne was a very acceptable Juliet whose girlishness never forsook her.

Here, with all the human types available for use in the photographic studio, it is hard to understand why it was necessary to have a Friar Lawrence whose beard was so obviously glued on. A smooth-shaven shaver would have been preferable, even if it did violate a stage convention.

In correctness of archeological details, in settings and costumes, the film is an excellent production. The mob scene of street fighting between the retainers of the Capulets and Montagues were well handled and realistic.

BALCONY SCENE.

The balcony scene, while beautiful and convincing from a pictorial point of view, fell flat in the evocation of emotion. More here than in any other part of the film, an attempt was made by the scenario writer to reproduce the poetical atmosphere of the play by a liberal use of text in the leaders. But the effect was killed by the absence of the speaking voices.

I think that William would have agreed with me that the story was well told to the eye, but that it was not his play. To get that, one must still visit the speaking theater or open the covers of a book.

Caught by Trucks, Man Loses Both Legs

STOCKTON, Oct. 27.—Both legs of C. C. Erhart, a housemover, were so badly crushed when he was caught under the trucks supporting a house that surgeons found it necessary to amputate them. The house, a story and a half dwelling, was being moved across the railroad tracks and was on a slight down-grade when Erhart stepped in front of one of the trucks. It rolled toward him, catching his foot, throwing him down and crushing both legs. One was amputated above the knee and the other below. The man's condition is critical, but physicians think he will recover. Erhart has a wife and small son here.

Plays Cards While Friends 'Mourn Death'

WOODLAND, Oct. 27.—After scores of friends had gathered at his home to extend sympathy to relatives and at least a dozen floral tributes had been ordered through local florists, Deputy Sheriff Leroy Hillhouse, reported killed in a fight with a criminal, was found enjoying a card game in the clubroom of the Woodland Elks. Hillhouse is unable to account for the wild report. He is the deputy who three times has arrested John Bogden, "human eel," now serving time for looting a postoffice at Yolo. The man's condition is critical, but physicians think he will recover. Hillhouse is in the San Francisco post-office building.

THIEVES RISK NECKS.
WOODLAND, Oct. 27.—By climbing a telephone pole and jumping over a five-foot gap, thieves reached the roof of the new burglar-proof Cranston hardware store and then smashed a couple of windows. Next they tied a rope on to the top bar of an elevator shaft and let themselves down to the first floor, 80 feet below. They were rewarded for their trouble with a $200 loot, comprising firearms and cutlery.

OUR WILL ENTERTAIN.
The Jefferson School Mothers' Club members will be the hostesses this evening at a costume dance and Halloween party, holding the festivity at the Jefferson school, Thirtieth avenue and Carrington street.

Women on Jury Fail to Arrive at Verdict

REDWOOD CITY, Oct. 27.—A jury of four women and eight men disagreed in the civil suit of the National Bank of San Mateo against Leslie and St. John Whitney to collect $6000 on two promissory notes. The defense was that William M. Roberts, former cashier of the bank, now serving a term in the penitentiary, collected $3000 on one note, while the other $3000 was never received by the Whitney brothers. The jury was out two hours before being dismissed by Superior Judge George Buck.

Stockton Dairies May Advance Milk Price

STOCKTON, Oct. 27.—Wholesale and retail milk dealers of Stockton who recently organized are seriously considering advancing the price of milk. Higher prices must be charged, they say, because of increased demands made by the dairymen, who must now grade and pasteurize their milk under the new state law. Tentatively the dealers have decided to advance milk on the first of the month to 5 cents a pint straight or 1.80 per month of thirty-one days. A quart will cost 10 cents straight, or 43 per month of thirty days.

LIVE FISH HURLED FROM UNDER EARTH

Quake-sprung Well Spouts Out Fish, Blind From Life Underground.

TULARE, Oct. 27.—Earth shocks of Sunday night are believed to have developed a fresh well in the Spa district south of here, according to C. A. Peairs, city inspector for this county, who returned from that section today.

According to Peairs' story, within a few hours after the quakes an artesian well, which has a depth of 150 feet, began to spout live fish and this strange geyser has continued intermittently since that day.

The fish are from two to ten inches in length, and aside from the fact that they are blind closely resemble the common lake trout.

MUSH CAUSE OF DIVORCE ACTION

OROVILLE, Oct. 27.—There were times when he was disappointed at breakfast because the much don't quite meet his fancy. And on the other occasions he claims to have been the butt for profane language, which he says his wife was in the habit of using.

These are some of the allegations of Leroy West of Willow, in his divorce suit charging Little West with cruelty. The hearing started yesterday before Superior Judge Gregory and is being continued today. The action was filed in the local court because of Mrs. West, the daughter of Simeon Moak of Chico, having moved to that locality after she and her husband separated.

SUIT WAS FILED. West is the son of Hiram West, a wealthy farmer of Willow. The parent is being sued by his son's wife, who asks $10,000 for alleged alienation of affections. The latter suit will be heard in Willow on November 15th.

Hiram West was an inmate parent two years ago when he discovered that his son and Miss Lillie Moak had eloped to Sacramento. He immediately communicated with the Sacramento authorities in an effort to frustrate the marriage ceremony. But his action was too late, the license having already been issued and the proverbial knot tied.

Witnesses in the divorce proceedings who have testified for West are Marion Hillard, an employee at Willow of Hiram West, who admitted on the stand that "I drink like a fish," Elmer Longmire, a brother of Mrs. Hiram West, and Mrs. S. Davis, all of Willow.

Maebel and Frank Moak of Chico took the stand for their sister.

CLAIMS SUFFERING. Mrs. West claimed to have suffered mental agony after reading the following note, which she says her husband left in their home at Willow, after sending her to Chico in search of a home, and after he himself had fled to Los Angeles:

"Lillie, I am gone; don't try to find me. I am all right, and you stay all right, and some day you will realize how you worried me while we lived together. We can never live together again. Don't blame the folks, for this is my own doing; so now good-bye. LE ROY."

Frank Moak, in the witness stand, said he was with his sister when the note was discovered.

Simple Laxative Remedy Best for Constipation

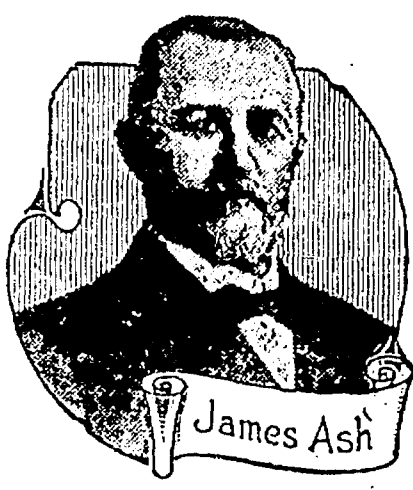

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin
Gave Satisfaction When Nothing Else Would.

Nearly every one, at one time or another, suffers from constipation, or inactive bowels, and one of the few cures upon which the doctors agree is that regularity of the bowels is an essential to good health.

In the family medicine chest of most well-ordered households will be found one or more of the various remedies recommended for the relief of constipation. In the majority of homes today the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is recognized as the standard laxative. Druggists everywhere report a constantly increasing demand for this splendid remedy which is sold for fifty cents a bottle.

Mr. James Ash, 102 Green St., Cumberland, Md., wrote to Dr. Caldwell that he found Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin the most effective remedy for constipation he had ever used and that he always keeps a bottle of it on hand for use when necessary.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a mild laxative, and does not grip or strain, but acts gently and brings relief in an easy, natural manner. Its freedom from opiates or narcotics drugs makes it the ideal family laxative. To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes be sure you get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 455 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

DANDRUFF GOES! HAIR GETS THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL

Save Your Hair! Double Its Beauty in a Few Moments;
Try This!

Hair Stops Coming Out and
Every Particle of Dandruff
Disappears.

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them, their exhilarating stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

Why Suffer From Migraine or Sick Headache?

Dr. J. J. Caldwell says that this exceedingly distressing disease shortens life, but does not appear to be curable. Sufferers from this affliction are condemned to undergo the periodic attacks every few weeks until they are forty years of age, after which the attacks are less frequent, and finally disappear entirely. An attack may often be prevented by taking two anti-kamnia tablets when the first symptoms appear, and one anti-kamnia tablet every two hours during the attack shortens it, eases the pain and brings rest and quiet. Anti-kamnia tablets may be obtained at all drug stores. Ask for A-K Tablets. They quickly relieve all pain.

Do you want a clear skin?

If your skin is not fresh, smooth and glowing, or has suffered from an unwise use of cosmetics, here is an easy, inexpensive way to clear it:

Spread on a thin Resinol Ointment, letting it remain for ten minutes. Then wash off with Resinol Soap and hot water. Finish with a dash of clear, cold water to close the pores. Do this regularly, once a day, and it will not only quickly soothe and cleanse the pores, lessen the tendency to pimples, and leave the complexion clear, fresh and velvety. Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment are sold at all drug stores. For samples of each, free, write to Dept. S-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

'Ware the Sneeze! Society Warns Organization on Trail of Hay-Fever Producer

CINCINNATI, Oct. 27.—A National Campaign against sneezing producers was described by Dr. William Scheppergrell, President of the American Hay Fever Prevention Association today.

Dr. Scheppergrell said one per cent of the population of the United States suffers from hay fever. To relieve their annual period of sneezing and sniffing, Dr. Scheppergrell's Association is engaged in a nation-wide publicity and educational campaign on the relationship of pollen to hay fever and for the passage of laws for the eradication of weeds that cause the disease.

"Education in the relationship of pollen to hay fever has been the most satisfactory progress during the past year," said Dr. Scheppergrell. "The public was first impressed with the fact that the principal cause of hay fever in the United States, were the rag weeds, whose pollen during the months of August and September filled the atmosphere with their irritating pollen, and that these, as well as most of the other plants which cause hay fever, had almost been outlawed by the agricultural interest." Chicago, Ill., San Francisco, Cal., New Haven, Conn., Jacksonville, Fla., Lake City, Utah, and Minneapolis, Minn., have passed ordinances for the eradication of hay fever weeds.

PIONEER WOMAN CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Regina Medau, for fifty-eight years a resident of California, died at her home, 235 East Twelfth street, where she had been ailing for some time. Death came suddenly and without warning. J. H. Medau, her husband, who resided in Oakland tomorrow morning from San Diego, where he had gone, accompanied by a daughter. Although he received a messenger's message of her death, he was unaware that his companion of 58 years is dead.

A native of Germany, aged 75 years, Mrs. Medau had lived in the bay region for the past 38 years. Shortly after her birth her family moved to Farmington, where she lived until late childhood. At the age of 18 years she arrived in San Francisco and there resided with relatives. A year later she was wed to J. H. Medau and the couple moved to Oakland. Medau was the owner of the famous Medau ranch, then in Piedmont. It was one of the best properties of its kind on the coast at the time. During the past few years he had been living with his wife and children at 235 East Twelfth street, from whence the funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will take place at Mountain View cemetery.

Protests Dissolution of Steamship Firm

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—An echo of the wrecking of the steamer Aberdeen on January 27, with the loss of the entire complement of officers and crew, was heard in the Superior Court today when Andrew Bjolstad, secretary of the Norwegian consulate filed an objection to a petition to dissolve the Signal Steamship Company, a corporation which owned the ill-fated vessel. Bjolstad is acting as guardian for Hans Berger, a son of Martin Olaf, who was one of those drowned. A claim under the Workmen's Compensation Act has been levied by Bjolstad in behalf of Berger and he feared that judgment might not be obtained in the event of the dissolution of the corporation. The Aberdeen was the Oakland garbage vessel and went out on a storm on January 27. At the crew of seven men and Robert J. Moore, city inspector of Oakland, went to their death.

Husband Slayer to Know Her Fate Soon

NEW YORK, N. J., Oct. 27.—Mrs. Margaret Claire Beutinger, pretty 28-year-old matron, who shot and killed her wealthy husband, Christopher Beutinger, because, she said, he made excessive demands on her, probably will know her fate before tomorrow. Judge Martin began charging the jury this afternoon after closing arguments. Mrs. Beutinger's counsel pictured the dead broker as a brute, who had threatened the woman's life after she had borne him five children and expressed confidence that she would be speedily acquitted.

Cured of Indigestion After Twenty Years
"After suffering for over twenty years with indigestion and having some of the best doctors here tell me there was no cure for me, I think I only ought to try for the sake of other sufferers as well as to my own satisfaction, that a twenty-cent box of Chamberlain's Tablets not only relieved me but cured me within two months," writes J. H. Grobner, 308 St. Henry St., Houston, Texas. For sale by Osgood Bros. Drug Store.—Advertisement.

INQUIRY PROBES CAUSES OF WRECK

Car Hit by Auto, Brakes Deranged, Is Finding of the Official Board.

An investigating board appointed by the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway to determine the cause of the accident to an East Sixteenth street car, which got beyond control and overturned at Fourteenth avenue Sunday evening, injuring many passengers, finds that it was due to an automobile colliding with the side of the car, breaking the air pipe of the car and rendering the air brakes ineffective.

Carl Fogh and G. J. Kellogg, who were in the automobile that collided with the street car, testified at the investigation in the Key System building yesterday, that they were driving north on Twelfth avenue and did not see the approaching car until they were near East Sixteenth street and turned in the same direction as the car was going. The auto ran across the sidewalk and collided with the center of the car.

Motorman W. N. Stewart in evidence said he noticed an automobile running north on Twelfth avenue at a high rate of speed. He applied his air and the brakes took effect until the automobile collided with the car. Owing to the grade and not knowing that the air supply had been affected by the collision until it was near the curve, Motorman Stewart declared he did not have sufficient time to check the speed of the car with the hand brake to prevent an accident. This testimony was corroborated by C. E. Robbins, who was standing on the front of the car near the motorman, and by a statement from W. J. Moorehead, the conductor, who was unable to attend on account of injuries sustained.

George St. Pierre, superintendent of equipment, and W. P. Jackson, master mechanic, testified that they made a careful examination of the car and found the brakes in perfect condition with the exception of a broken air pipe in under the side of the car near the center. Inspectors Hodgkins and Smith were appointed to attend the investigation by Commissioner of Public Health and Safety P. F. Jackson. W. F. Lemon represented the Railroad Commission. Mr. Boggs, chief engineer of the company, introduced blueprints showing the percent grade and the radius of the curve.

Seal Killing Upon Islands to Begin

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 27.—The seal hunt on the British Isles in the Bering Sea have increased so rapidly since the signing of seals was prohibited that the government will begin killing seals regularly next year, according to H. J. Christoffer, assistant agent for the United States bureau of fisheries, who returned today from an inspection trip to the islands. Christoffer made the trip on the steamer Ellihu Thompson, which left here September 15, with winter supplies for the islands. The Thompson brought back 7000 seal skins which were taken from seals killed to supply food for the natives on the islands. The skins will be shipped to St. Louis, where the government will sell them at auction.

Many of the belles and beaux on this side have received cards sent out by Miss Miriam Beaver for the large dance which she will give at the Fairmont on the evening of Friday, November 10. Miss Beaver is a favorite among the denizens of Oakland and Piedmont and was made much of last Saturday, when she assisted in the receiving party at the formal coming out of Miss Elizabeth Adams at the Edison Adams residence in Piedmont. She spent the week end as the house guest of Miss Amy Long.

The last in the series of charming affairs which Mrs. Percie Clay Black will give preceding the holidays will be the informal tea for which she has sent out cards on Thursday afternoon of next week. Mrs. Black is clever enough to hostess to arrange her functions that they may give particular pleasure to those whom she includes in her hospitality, and so it has been at dinner, bridge and the prettily planned tea that she has brought together a wide circle of acquaintances.

Her attractive home was bright with autumn colors yesterday, when forty of the matrons about the bay spent an interesting session at bridge tables, the tea, rounding out the hour. Mrs. Black was assisted in greeting her friends by her mother, Mrs. King. Among those who were included in the afternoon's invitation were: Mrs. Dudley Kinsell, Mrs. Taylor Henshaw, Mrs. Victor Henshaw, Mrs. Walter Henshaw, Mrs. Joseph Kelley, Mrs. J. Q. Brown, Mrs. Ernest Henshaw, Mrs. Louise Alexander, Mrs. Walton Moore.

The announcement which comes from New York of the approaching marriage of Miss Edith Deacon and Henry Gray of that city is not without its interest to many of the older Californians. Friends who recall that about five years ago just before the date set for her marriage with George Lee Deacon, the popular matron died under an operation, will be more than glad that Miss Deacon has again married. Many years ago the Deacon family resided in San Francisco, but numbered among their intimates many of the pioneers on this side of the bay.

Miss Deacon's father, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Parker Deacon and a granddaughter of Mrs. Charles Baldwin, widow of the late Rear-Admiral Baldwin, U. S. N., with whom she has spent much time in Newport. Her sisters are the Honorable Albert Bagdikian and Miss Gladys Deacon. Following the outbreak of the European war, Miss Deacon went abroad to enter the service of the Red Cross. Her uncle, Charles Baldwin, married Miss Edith Deacon.

The sympathy of a wide circle of friends is with Mrs. Clinton Walker, who has had the dual grief this week of mourning the death of a sister in Minneapolis and of bearing the anxiety of seeing her young daughter, Miss Helen Walker, undergo an operation for appendicitis in one of our local hospitals. The young girl was operated on Wednesday, while on the same day came the news across the continent which gave but meager tidings of the passing of a cherished member of the interesting household.

Mrs. Victor A. Hall is opening her lovely Bellevue avenue home on Thursday afternoon of next week to 100 friends, arranging an elaborate tea at which to bring them together thus early in the season. Among those who will assist her in the reception are: Mrs. J. D. Clark, Mrs. William A. Shrock, Mrs. D. Webster, Mrs. R. D. Jayer, Mrs. A. Beretta, Miss Lou Deacon, Miss Grace Trevor. Cards will lend a diversion to the party care to join in the fascinating game.

Hallowe'en, with all its mystery and quaintness, will be introduced into the dance for which Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Westfall are claiming a number of the younger set on Tuesday evening next. The guests are asked to come in masquerade, and a midnight supper will round out the celebration. The party will have the Forest-avenue residence of the Westfalls as the setting.

being written by one of the eminent composers of New York. It is a dainty thing, presenting the four seasons in most picturesque phrasing. Mrs. Whitaker has done some charming writing of verse, which has brought to her much kindly criticism.

One of the delightfully unique affairs of the week which was a harbinger of the dawn of Yuletide was the "dainty" at which Miss Mabel Johnson entertained on Wednesday afternoon, when more than a dozen guests assembled to prepare for their Christmas boxes those things which were to take the form of dainty needlework. The hours with the needle were made pleasant by the charming music which Miss Edith Woodward and Mrs. Robert Earl Jeffery contributed, after which tea was served. Those who enjoyed the affair were: Miss Florence Ozawa, Miss Edith Woodward, Miss Edith Woodward, Miss Vivian Middleton, Miss Esther Walker, Miss Margaret Banta, Miss Amanda Banta, Miss Betty Johnson, Miss Agnes Hansen, Mrs. George Hicks, Mrs. David Knox, Mrs. Herman Engelhardt, Mrs. Joseph Kouri, Mrs. Charles Bonville, Mrs. Alfred Jeffery, Mrs. James A. Johnson.

The greatly anticipated ball which opens the season of the Berkeley Association will gather several hundred of the dancing set about the bay, a number of the local educators and the San Francisco to participate in the brilliant function. The patronesses number a score of the most socially prominent.

BAKERSFIELD FAIR DISPLAYS STOCK

Prize Winners' Parade Notable Feature of Successful Exhibition.

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 27.—Bakersfield day at the Kern County Agricultural Fair brought out the biggest crowd of the week, it being estimated that 10,000 people passed through the gates before the afternoon races. All the stores and offices in the city were closed at noon, when a steady stream of auto stages were put into operation to accommodate the increasing crowd.

The future of the day was the parade of prize winners in the stock show. Over $125,000 worth of blooded horses and cattle passed in review before the crowd in the grandstand, bleachers and the enthusiasts who stayed near the fence to get closer view of the blue ribbons.

Prizes have been awarded the farm bureau exhibits, the Art Union, in one of the newer communities in the county, walking away with the first prize for the best exhibit entered. One hundred dollars went to the Art Union, who showed an exhaustive general exhibit of vegetables, grain, fruits and melons. Delano took second prize, a purse of $50, and Wasco third, a purse of $25. On the recommendation of the committee of judges special diplomas were awarded as follows: Rio Bravo, rice; Tehachapi, most artistic installation of booth; Shafter, for showing made by new community; Panama, excellent and varied collection; Kern county, general rice display; Kern County Board of Trade, general display of products of the soil.

Today was school day, opening with a parade of 7000 school children in the morning. Floats from schools all over the county were entered in the parade. Maricopa, Delano and Tehachapi sent big school delegations, Tehachapi, the mountain town, sending a special trainload of children and adults.

women of the college town, including Mrs. Henry Martinez, Mrs. J. B. Martinez, Mrs. Benjamin Lee Wheeler, Mrs. Raymond Wilson, Mrs. Charles M. Gayley. Several large dances will be given preceding the dance, among the hostesses who are claiming guests being Mrs. Butters, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Gayley.

The handsome Lakeside residence of Mrs. Thomas Klein was the scene of an interesting coterie of the married set last evening when this hospitable hostess entertained at dinner, covers being laid for a dozen guests. Mrs. Klein is happy in having with her during the early season Mrs. William Klein, who has been consistently feted on both sides of the bay.

A number of our local matrons set crossed to San Rafael Wednesday to enjoy with Mrs. Robert Lutz the pleasure of an afternoon at bridge, followed by an informal tea.

Considerable interest is manifested in the unique talk by Mrs. Virginia House Chamberlain at the Hotel Shattuck Friday afternoon, at 2:30. Mrs. Chamberlain lectures under the "Lectures" name of Madame Vahmah, and her subject Friday is "Zodiacal Gowns," her theory being that each sign of the zodiac has its distinctive color, which should be worn by the person born under that sign. Having lived in India for several years, Mrs. Chamberlain has assimilated many curious ideas and much quaint lore which makes her a woman of unusual interest. She will bring with her a number of handkerchiefs of rich Oriental fabrics and furs, which, being displayed on living models, will undoubtedly prove to be the most interesting feature of the lecture.

Mrs. Willard Williamson has decided to prolong her sojourn at the Atlantic coast until after the holidays, and it will be well into the new year before the beautiful Piedmont home is reopened. Mrs. Williamson, who is still lingering in New York, where she is continuing intensely the theater and opera, has renewed some old friendships, which have brought her many happy hours. As one of the most beautiful of our local matrons, she is a distinguished figure at the gatherings of New Yorkers where she has been a guest.

The home of the George Parades, in Eleventh street, where so many of the enjoyable affairs of the last decade have had their setting, was named today for a delightful event which was planned in compliment to Mrs. Vally Percy Brun, a popular bride, who is claiming favors on both sides of the bay. Mrs. Brun, until her recent marriage, was Miss Marguerite Edith, formerly the family resided in the lake district and the young girls were eagerly sought after by those who were happy in their friendship. It was Mrs. Madeline Pardee and Miss Carol Purdee who this afternoon dispensed their hospitality to the large number of guests who were asked to meet Mrs. Brun.

Hallowe'en on the ice is the striking feature which will be presented to bay city devotees of the gay sport with a ball masque and an ice carnival combining all its unusual pleasures. Society will throw the Tashan Ice Palace to the winds and the old-time Caledonian games and quaint pastimes of an age long forgotten, on Tuesday evening, dining, singing and bringing together those who have become adept in this latest craze. After 9 o'clock, lacking a costume, none will be allowed on the ice field. The treat to the club members is the door will present a wondrous picture to the lovers of this side of the bay will join in the merry-making in honor of the beautiful old custom of observing All Saints' Day.

In the North Congregational Church of Berkeley last evening the marriage was solemnized of Miss Isabelle Hoyt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hoyt, and Orville A. Frost. Miss Ethel Hoyt, a sister of the bride, and Jordan, a sister of the bride, were the only attendants. The service was read by Rev. Samuel C. Patterson in the presence of 100 guests. After their home in Willis, where the bridegroom has business interests, the bride and groom will make their home in the Parthenon, California, where she was active in the Phi Beta Kappa honor society. In her senior year she took a leading part in the Parthenon. Formerly the Hoyt family resided in San Diego, where many friends will be interested to learn of the marriage of the young daughter of the house.

Mrs. Alden McElrath will be a hostess on the afternoon of November 3 at a bridge party in honor of her sister, Miss Elizabeth Stille, whose marriage to Claude Brown will be an event of next spring. Cards have been issued to forty guests.

A congenial little coterie of friends are the guests of Mrs. Esther Lane, who enjoyed the dinner given at Hotel Oakland last evening by the School Teachers' Club of Oakland, which brought together a large number of the local educators and their friends. Those who made up the personnel of the interesting group were Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Forrester, Professor and Mrs. Albert S. Colton and Professor Paul Martin.

Despondent, Stranger Ends Life With Rope

An unidentified Mexican, about 50 years old, thought to be a ranch hand, was found dead under a fruit tree on a ranch near Livermore last night. He had hanged himself from a limb of the tree. The rope had broken, and the body was lying on the ground when it was discovered by Manuel Bettinecourt, a rancher. An inquest will be held in the branch morgue at Livermore.

Bribe Charge Against Supervisor Dismissed

MARTINEZ, Oct. 27.—On motion of District Attorney T. D. Johnston, Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie has dismissed the charge of bribery against Supervisor Zeb Knott, in whose case a jury recently disagreed, two holding out for conviction. According to Johnston, it will be impossible to get a jury to convict Knott, and the expense to the county is not worth the trial.

Gold Crown Is Put on Squirrel's Tooth

GREENWICH, Conn., Oct. 27.—Dr. T. D. Flanagan, a dentist here, has a tame gray squirrel, which he feeds outside his office every night and morning. While munching the shell of a nut the squirrel broke one of its teeth. Dr. Flanagan took the little fellow upstairs to his office, where he treated and crowned the tooth. The squirrel has since refused to break any more shells, but waits until Dr. Flanagan has cracked the nuts for him and taken the meat out.

WEINSTOCK MAKES WAR ON EXCHANGE

Director of the State Market Is Weary of Defeats in Forming Distribution Bureau; Issues a Circular Appeal to Growers

Battle Against Policies of the Shippers Launched in Effort to Destroy Present Combination, Which Holds His Plans

Harris Weinstock, state market director, has declared war on the California Fruit Exchange of Sacramento in general and J. F. Nagle in particular. Today Weinstock released a circular letter of four pages, containing statistics, tables and copies of correspondence with Nagle to show to the fruit growers of the state that the scheme of a state bureau of distribution, including the sale of fruits east, is sound and that Nagle and his associates in the exchange are thwarting the idea by a determination not to co-operate with Weinstock.

PUT BEFORE ALL.
Says Weinstock: "The proposal of a state bureau of distribution was personally laid before each of the deciduous shipper-factories in the co-operation of all was invited, in order that the state and families affecting the entire industry might be minimized. The board of directors of the California Fruit Distributors of Sacramento officially agreed to the plan and almost every independent shipper of deciduous fruits signed up for it. The only outstanding factor anywhere in the state was the California Fruit Exchange of Sacramento, which has always been the loudest to preach co-operation and which was expected to be the first to come in. Finally its manager, J. F. Nagle, announced that he considered such a bureau unnecessary; that the growers belonging to the exchange are satisfied with the present combination of sufficient information to enable him to satisfy the market his shipments. The fact that prices are satisfactory is probably true of the present year, for the independent shippers also are now jubilant over the return which they are receiving from the East, but none of us know how quickly the tide will turn, and Eastern prices again become glutted as the result of blind shipping.

That Mr. Nagle has overestimated his ability to secure and act upon the fullest shipping information regarding the movements of his competitors, and has occasioned losses to

U. S. May Back O. and E. Demand R. R. Needs Spurtracks Here

Indications that the Oakland, Antioch and Eastern railway is to be an important feeder and terminal agent for the Western Pacific railway upon a basis similar to that recently imputed to the Tide Water Southern Railway Company, and that federal influence may be brought to bear to secure spur track facilities within the city limits of Oakland, over municipal opposition, were brought to light today.

When it was learned that most of the steel used by the Union Iron Works in the construction of its present contracts for freighters, steamers and other craft was reaching the concern from Pittsburgh over the Western Pacific tracks, via the Oakland, Antioch and Eastern railway line from Sacramento. Officials of the railway company admitted today that when the Union Iron Works starts work on the big government destroyers, which will total approximately $7,120,000, the local road will handle much of the heavy steel material.

BIG SHIPMENTS COMING.
At the present time these shipments are arriving at the rate of 100 tons a day. The steel in twin-car lots is transferred at Sacramento to the Oakland and Antioch tracks, conveyed to Oakland, handed over to the Key Route, and by their delivery to the Southern Pacific Company, who in turn make deliveries to the Union Iron Works. It was intimated today that when the government contracts for destroyers are varied, handling of Uncle Sam's materials will be done away with. An arrangement for the exchange members as well as to other shippers of deciduous fruits, is made indispensable by the contents of a letter addressed to him by me.

GIVES FIGURES.
The writer here reproduced a letter addressed to Nagle August 14 in which a report is afforded of actual fruit deliveries in New York and the prices received for one week. These figures fluctuate between $2.04 and $2.57 a box within six days, showing a loss to shippers in one day of $10,500. Continuing.

In the meanwhile, the figures, as they stand show—to put it mildly—poor judgment on the part of the management of the deciduous exchange, especially in view of its insistence that its members have no need of a more scientific method of routing and diverting their shipments. As for the New York market cost the California growers $10,500 on Bartlett pears alone.

As State Market Director of California I am naturally the repository of the complaints of growers who feel they are not getting the return from their labor and their investment, and I know that there is a positive and a negative method of marketing California fruits, so that next year and the next and the next the growers may be safeguarded against reckless shipping and its inevitable losses. I have pointed out to the growers that the negative method, by every important deciduous fruit shipper in California, except Mr. Nagle. Since the directors of the exchange have left the deciding power in his hands, he has been able temporarily to prevent the state from carrying out its plan, but it will not take more than one or two more bad years, with their quota of "red ink," to educate the growers as to the difference between intelligent and blind shipping.

Oakland and Antioch line to deliver directly to the Union Iron Works over its own spur tracks will be sought. According to officials of the Oakland and Antioch railway, the company obtained franchises and established terminals on the understanding made some time ago with the City Council that adequate spur track privileges to the center of the city would be allowed. The fight to have this promise carried out has been conducted without cessation for many years by the Merchants' Exchange, members of which have repeatedly gone before the Council on behalf of the company.

WANT FEDERAL HELP.
In the handling of the federal government's materials for the big destroyers, advocates of the spur track plan hope to see the hand of the government overshadowing the position of the Council. General Manager E. J. Mitchell of the Oakland, Antioch and Eastern said today: "There are a considerable amount of this steel for the Union Iron Works, practically 100 tons a day. We will handle much of the steel for the government destroyers, also, as it is the policy of the big steel corporation at Pittsburgh to divide up its Western shipments between the Southern Pacific, Western Pacific and the Santa Fe.

Just what the financial arrangement with the Western Pacific is I do not know. The Tide Water Southern Railway Company recently applied to the Railroad Commission for permission to use the tracks of the Western Pacific from Stanislaus to Merced counties. The Western Pacific consented, although officials of that time that the former was to act as a road for the latter. A similar situation is understood to exist with regard to the Oakland, Antioch and Eastern Company, although officials of both railroads are reticent about the actual arrangements existing.

CARRANZA WILL BE CANDIDATE, BELIEF

Big Demonstration in Mexico City Urges First Chief for Presidency.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 27.—General Carranza is expected to formally announce his candidacy for the presidency, following a great demonstration in his behalf that lasted until an early hour today. Crowds of the first chief's admirers paraded the streets of the capital with banners and lanterns, shouting: "Long live Carranza!"

Late in the evening several processions united in a great parade to the palace, where spokesmen pledged Carranza their support and loyalty and asked him to accept the candidacy.

"I am not worthy of such high honors," said the first chief in a brief speech, "but I will give due consideration to your wishes. In the event that I decide to become a candidate and if the popular vote carries me into this high office, I will stand for the people's rights with the same zeal and enthusiasm that has always marked my actions as first chief."

General Obregon, minister of war, took occasion at a meeting of the Constitutional-Liberal party to declare "absurd and untrue" reports of bad feeling between him and General Gonzales.

"We are both human," said Obregon. "We both have aspirations, but we are able to hold our personal ambitions in subjection to our sense of duty to the triumph of the constitutional cause." Until the same day General Gonzales responded by embracing Obregon, while the audience cheered.

MEXICAN POLICY TERMED COWARDLY

Roosevelt Scores Democratic Stand; Adamson Bill Also Criticized.

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, in his speech here with which he concluded his western tour, attacked the Mexican policy of the Wilson administration as cowardly and impotent to keep the respect of the law or the country's self-respect, and criticized the administration's action in putting through the Adamson bill for what he calls political effect. He said, in part:

"There are many things a nation needs, but the two vital things are that it shall be a nation and shall prepare itself in soul and body so that by its own strength it may guarantee to continue to be a nation. The most vital of all issues are those of Americanism and preparedness; and of those Americanism must come first, for there is no use to prepare to defend or uphold the American nation unless there is an American nation to defend.

"Unless we succeed in fusing all of our people into one thoroughgoing American citizenship, into one American type, it is of no use to talk of this nation, in the end, will be shattered into fragments.

"We can not attain our full stature as a nation except as we attain it through our common American nationality, and this is true of our politics, our social, our literary and our artistic life. We have been striving for such unity and solidarity. The civil war saved the Union. The courage and the sacrifice of the men of the great conflict earned for American citizens the respect of all other nations. The Spanish war brought us into closer world relations; we assumed weighty obligations in international affairs.

"We sent our products and manufactures into every country; we urged and induced our citizens to go, with the families of the most part of the world, to the farthest parts of the earth, to develop our foreign trade and increase our market. This wise policy for the extension of world trade was based on the proposition that American citizenship should be respected and that the American government would absolutely protect American citizens in the orderly conduct of their lives and affairs throughout the world.

"Every administration, from the foundation of the Republic, save only President Wilson's accepted that doctrine and acted in accordance therewith. One of the chief spokesmen of the administration, ex-President Eliot, declared that he frankly stated President Wilson's position as follows:

FORSEWORE POLICIES.
America has now turned its back on the policy of Rome and Great Britain of protecting or avenging their wandering citizens by force of arms and has set up a different policy of her own.

"The new Wilson policy is sordid and base. He says he wishes for friendly political and trade relations with the world. He would have our citizens go forth and trade for their benefit and ours, but they must do so on their own peril, while we sit snugly at home, reaping the reward of their labor and reaping when they are murdered. Such a policy breeds the worst traits in men and stamps a nation with cowardice.

"I have just come from the border where I have seen the men and women who have personally experienced the results of this new policy.

"When President Wilson condemns Americans in sweeping terms as adventures who are dishonestly exploiting Mexico, his charge is not only unsupported by the facts, but is a subterfuge to keep men's minds away from the horrible murders and outrages of American men, women and children in Mexico.

"The truth is that the Wilson policy of refusal to protect American citizens in itself is primarily responsible for these murders and outrages. Until the Wilson policy is abandoned and we return to the straight path of absolute protection of Americans and their interests, we need not hope for peace in or with Mexico.

ADAMSON BILL.
Colonel Roosevelt then took up the Adamson bill, saying:

"A word as to the Adamson bill—the law passed without any investigation whatever, to raise the wages of the men working on railroads of the country. I very greatly respect the brotherhoods. I am very proud that I am an honorary member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen. When I was president, it was my good fortune to stand by the brotherhoods, so far as I can recall on every question where they were concerned. I stood by them because they were right.

"The President of the United States stood over Congress and demanded that the government of all the people should pass a law for the economical advantage of one-half of one per cent of the population, without giving the rest their 'day in court.' For the first time in the history of this country the president of all the people took an industrial control placed it in the political field for personal advantage in the campaign. I do not censure the individual congressmen who acted under the pressure of the chief magistrate of the United States, who came before them alleging a great national crisis which threatened the economical and industrial life of the country and the food supply of the great cities and who demanded of Congress this law, under pretense that it was a justifiable social welfare law.

"It is he, and not any leader of the brotherhoods, who is primarily to blame, for the brotherhoods acted as they did only under direct incitement of the president. In other words, the law was passed under duress and by threats and the president yielded, as he had yielded before outside threats in international matters. I hold that such yielding was an act, not merely of timidity, but grave abandonment of duty.

"The farmers' union demand investigation whether these hours of work and compensation of the railroad men compare unfavorably with those of the farmers; whether the farmer is financially able to withstand his proportion of the burden of the increased cost of living.

PLAN MASQUE BALL.
Under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Order of Owls, No. 1467, of Berkeley, a Halloween masque ball will be given in Masonic Temple, Bancroft way and Shattuck avenue, next Monday night. Lucy Golder heads the committee in charge, assisted by Margaret Davis, floor manager.

BIG FAIR OPENED.
SANTA MARIA, Oct. 27.—Spanish feast, Spanish dancing and Spanish singing are features of today's program for the annual Catholic fair now in progress. There is a big attendance and the local church will receive a big fund as a result of the fair, which closes tomorrow night.

FUND IS ESTABLISHED.
NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Oct. 27.—The establishment of a professorship fund of $6,000 at Smith College by Mr. and Mrs. David B. Gamble of Cincinnati and Pasadena, Cal., was announced by President Marion L. Burton of the college today. The fund is given in the name of Miss Mary Gamble, daughter of the donors.

You Can't Brush or Wash Out Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work—advertisement.

6 U.S. WAR CRAFT TO BE BUILT HERE

Union Iron Works to Receive Contracts for Destroyers; President McGregor Says in Telegram to Manager Tynan

Award Will Mean Expenditure of $7,120,000 in Bay Region and Large Increase in Industrial Payroll in This City

The addition of $3,000,000 to Alameda county's industrial payroll is predicted in a telegram received from John A. McGregor, head of the Union Iron Works, at present in Washington, D. C., that his concern will secure contracts for the construction of six of the score of destroyers provided for in the recent naval appropriation bill. The total cost of construction will be in excess of $7,120,000.

Besides the destroyers the Union Iron Works is to bid on one of the four battle cruisers, several light cruisers and submarines and some smaller craft, all a part of the fleet which is being developed as rapidly as possible. Four of the six destroyers must be delivered in twenty-two months and will cost $1,190,000 each and the other two in twenty-five months at a cost of $1,185,000 each. All of the destroyers will be built at the Alameda plant of the company.

Word of the victory for Western industry, coupled with the announcement by navy officials that the large ship-building orders already secured by Mare Island navy yard will probably be augmented by contracts for the construction of two destroyers at a cost of $1,100,000 each, have caused a furor of excitement in shipping and manufacturing circles. The assurance of the navy contracts, together with the work undertaken and under way, means that more than $20,000,000 in actual naval ship construction will be under way on the Pacific coast within the next six months.

READY FOR WORK.
The successful entrance of the Union Iron Works into the field of naval competition comes as more of a surprise. While it was known that the concern had submitted bids on some of the new destroyers and other craft included in the naval appropriation bill, no word had been received from Washington in regard to the status of the bids. McGregor, the Union Iron Works' head, telegraphed Acting Manager J. J. Tynan of San Francisco that the Union Iron Works could have the contract if the plant was "game" to tackle the job. Tynan wired back that it was and that he would build the six according to specifications. The handling of this work, which will of necessity have to be done on a large scale, will mean the employment of several thousand more persons, including skilled mechanics and others, who will live in Oakland, Alameda and vicinity. It is estimated that the augmented payroll necessary to take care of this additional crew of men will more than exceed the three million mark.

Boilermakers Taken As Hold-up Suspects

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—A thrilling automobile chase through empty streets in the Mission district during the early morning hours resulted in the capture of two alleged robbers both of whom were positively identified as having held up Arthur H. Davis, director of the 14th How old, 1537 York street. Both are boilermakers.

Davis claims to have been held up at Twenty-second and Mission streets and robbed of $15. He is now in custody of Detective Kerr who with Officer James Kirby requisitioned the automobile of Thomas Mitchell of 1736 Utah street, which followed the car recently were Dr. Bryant streets the accused men were taken into custody.

Blue Bird Bureau

A warm, comfortable bed—that is a wonderful refuge for a tired child or a weary grown-up. But how if the bed is not warm, and is made, perhaps, on the floor?

In one home in Oakland, and there may be many others, two children creep close to each other on a quilt on the floor.

Their covering is an old overcoat, and some other garments. There are no blankets. A child's sister sleeps on a narrow spring wire cot. She has no mattress, and the bed clothes are almost less able to keep out the cold than those covering the two youngsters huddled in each other's arms on the floor.

The case of a man suffering from tuberculosis has also been called to the attention of the Blue Bird Bureau. He is forced to sleep out of doors. But he has but scanty covering for his bed and he is cold at night. He also needs some blankets. He has no money to pay for bedding. The case was called to the attention of the bureau by one of the city nurses of Oakland.

Fairy godmothers are among the best friends of the Blue Bird Bureau. A mother has been interesting herself in a family in which there is a woman with two little ones, one of eleven months and the other of two years. She has helped the baby clothes, with washing, with darning and mending. She has provided dainties.

But this fairy godmother is not well off herself. She has helped by depriving herself of some things that she would have liked to have.

She came to Blue Bird with a request for a cot for the mother to take her children about with her. As a godmother she saw the need, but she could not meet it from her slender means. The mother had to go to market, to the store; and she has no one with whom to leave her babies. So she must carry one and tend the other, and try her best to carry her bundles and the youngsters home again.

Blue Bird was the medium of providing a family in need with a bedstead and mattress today. A request for the furniture brought a ready response. But Blue Bird had no means of transporting the bed. The woman who had offered the bedstead and mattress kindly furnished the cost of moving it, and went herself to the home in which it was needed. Later she returned to Blue Bird and said:

I have been more happy today than I have for a long time. I found a place where I could do some good, and where the help I could offer was appreciated.

The little I have done in this home has given me more happiness than the effort cost me. I hope to continue to help this family. The work is worth while.

Confessions of Roxane

FRANCES E. WALTER

"Of course it is," interrupted Mariani. "I can see by Roxane's face that she is enjoying it, and if the dinner is as good as the looks of the rest, we shall both be happy, and then you will be compelled to be, whether you want to or not."

Mr. Gordon forced a smile and gave his attention to the waiter at his elbow. He was an adept at such things, for in a very few minutes he had given his orders and the waiter glided away. Roxane eyed Mariani and turned our wide eyes to our surroundings.

I shall not attempt to describe the dining room to which Mr. Gordon escorted Mariani and me. My recollection of it is so blurred that I cannot say a thing of it here before my eyes lovely women, some stately, some young and shrinking, some like some hardened nearly all of them painted and bejeweled, beautifully or oddly govted and men, tall and handsome or small and ugly; red-faced and pale-faced; some with astringent, shrimpy eyes, others with shifting glances, some bending across tables, though pleading with the women who accompanied them; others plainly satiated and bored; some who were flushed with wine, others who yawned with cold cynicism all that they beheld. Mixed with it all is the recollection of pungent odors, some fragrant, some nauseating, and the alluring strains of the orchestra, ever and anon, blending across tables, though pleading with the women who accompanied them; others plainly satiated and bored; some who were flushed with wine, others who yawned with cold cynicism all that they beheld. Mixed with it all is the recollection of pungent odors, some fragrant, some nauseating, and the alluring strains of the orchestra, ever and anon, blending across tables, though pleading with the women who accompanied them; others plainly satiated and bored; some who were flushed with wine, others who yawned with cold cynicism all that they beheld.

It is the belief of some persons that good men and good women are always good; that honor and purity are untainted by circumstance; that whatever the conditions under which one is placed virtue will be triumphant. But such is not the case. In the atmosphere such as Mariani and I found ourselves that night purity and virtue may become very unstable attributes. The stage is set so that every combination of art, every flash of light, every flower, the very atmosphere itself, is likely that that purpose will be accomplished.

EMMY DESTINN'S RELEASE SOUGHT

Oakland Committees Seek Star for Big New Year's Eve Chorus.

Emmy Destinn, noted operatic star, may take part in the New Year's eve chorus of the Alameda county chorus, if Alexander Stewart, director, and members of the musical committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce can arrange it.

The singer is at present interned in her country estates in Hungary, where, as a French subject, she is subjected to the war's ban. Powerful influences are being brought to bear upon certain high Austrian officials by Stewart, to secure her release in time to permit her to appear in Oakland in Hanna's "Messiah," which is to be the treat given to bay music lovers in the Oakland Auditorium on the last day of 1916. Preliminary steps toward securing Emmy Destinn's release were taken by the musical committee at their regular meeting in the Hotel Oakland today, when Alexander Stewart was empowered to use every influence within his power to accomplish the desired end. A similar attempt was made to secure Destinn's release for "Aida," but without avail. Stewart is confident, however, that certain high diplomatic connections with which he is intimate will be successful.

In addition to the "Messiah," which is the first of a series of concerts, the chorus will give a special patriotic concert on May 29, and in the spring will hold a pilgrimage to the spot where John C. Fremont first saw the Golden Gate. J. Loran Pense is chairman of the committee of arrangements.

Two More Sworn in As "Safety First" Men

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—Phillip T. Clay and Andrew McCarthy, prominent local business and clubmen, were sworn in by Chief of Police White today as special safety first officers. The chief added their names to the millionnaire police force believing that both of them will make a record in capturing speeders and other offenders against the traffic laws. Among the other safety first specials put on the list recently were Dr. Washington Dodge and Milton Esberg.

SEVEN JURORS CHOSEN FOR TRIAL

Old Venire Is Exhausted, New One Called, in Caplan Case.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—With the swearing in of P. E. Gallagher of Los Angeles on the Caplan jury, the total of permanent jurors today was raised to seventy.

The old venire of talesmen was exhausted and court did not sit the entire day. A new venire of 100 was to be present this morning and it is hoped by both prosecution and defense that the choosing of the second jury will not be such a long drawn out matter as was at first expected.

A. C. Schaeffer, who was excused from the Schmidt jury for physical disability, was peremptorily challenged by the defense.

Attempts Suicide; Weds; Now Seeks Support

Mrs. Geraldine Merrill Westble, whose attempted suicide in a downtown hotel October 16 preceded her marriage to J. Merrill Westble, a dental student, by twelve hours, has filed suit for separate maintenance in the Superior Court. She says he left her the day of their marriage, October 17.

Mrs. Westble said Westble refused to marry her after repeated promises to do so. On the evening of October 16 she found him entertaining another woman at 3504 Richmond boulevard and, after a violent quarrel she determined to commit suicide, purchasing a quantity of strychnine in a Fourth street pharmacy. She then repaired to a downtown hotel and prepared to swallow the poison.

Westble, she says, will soon receive an inheritance of $20,000 from his father's estate, and she asks the court to grant her a suitable monthly allowance. The amount is not named. She does not ask a divorce.

PEACE, AIM OF NIPPON, SAYS GARY

Leading Men of Japan Scout
Talk of War Danger Declares
Head of Iron Corporation,
Returned From the Orient

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 27.—The leading men of Japan are anxious for permanent peaceable and friendly relations with the United States, Elbert H. Gary, president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, declared here today in an address at the semi-annual meeting of the organization. Gary's talk was given in response to a request from the institute's directors that he discuss his summer trip to the Orient, where he visited the Philippines, China and Japan. He said in part:

For some time there has been suggestions in public and in private, in the United States and in Japan as well, that, for numerous reasons not necessary to recall, there was possibility, if not likelihood of active hostility between the two countries. Whenever either government has decided to provide an additional warship someone in the other country has been prompt in charging that this meant preparation for war between these two nations. I said repeatedly, on my own responsibility, making no claim except that I believe I could accurately represent public sentiment, that a large majority of the people of the United States did not desire, but would deplore and stubbornly oppose, war with Japan, except in self-defense, and that they were of the opinion there is not now nor will be any cause for serious trouble or disagreement; that there need be no conflict of opinion which could not be finally and satisfactorily settled by mutual negotiations and consideration.

SENTIMENTS EMPHASIZED. I also expressed the belief that our governmental administration is and would be inclined toward this most desirable air of authority. To all this I am sure, this large company of representative business men will heartily subscribe. I would repeat and emphasize the sentiments thus expressed.

And now, gentlemen, I am here to say to you, as I have said so emphatically and in a belief no less absolute that the leading and

Two Pears Are Cause of Arrest Boys, on Auto Ride, Get Into Tangle With Law

An apple taken from a tree in the Garden of Eden caused considerable trouble for the human race, but two pears taken from an orchard near Walnut Creek today put into a tangle the peace of Oakland to the inconvenience of a trip to Antioch to appear before a justice of the peace on a charge of larceny. Baker, who is a broker living at 5055 Fairfax avenue, declares that the caretaker of the orchard refused to accept payment for the fruit and he does not understand why the warrant should have been issued.

In company with his two sons, Everett and Vernon, aged 18 and 13, Baker was driving yesterday in his automobile toward Oakland from Antioch where they had spent a portion of the day on business. A tire went flat and Baker stopped to make the necessary repairs. While he was engaged at this task, he says, his boys entered an orchard belonging to Dow Williams and took a pear apple from a tree. They were sitting in the tonneau of the machine munching the fruit, when a caretaker appeared and asked the boys why they had entered the orchard. Baker states that he offered payment for the two pears, but that the man refused to accept compensation.

When Baker reached home a police officer was waiting for him with a warrant for his arrest. He was released on $20 bail and this morning he set out on another hunt to Antioch.

Controlling men of Japan are equally anxious to have a continuance, permanently, of the peaceable and friendly relations now existing between the two countries. That there may be exceptions may go without saying; it would be usual and need excite no surprise nor fear if such is the fact. I had good opportunity to ascertain the real situation, though my visit to Japan was comparatively short.

The most prominent and influential men in Japan are outspoken in their professions of friendship toward the United States. Gary said that, basing his opinion upon inquiry and study, he has concluded that Japan desires that China shall become "firmly established as a sound, peaceful, progressive, prosperous and rich government, with free and open seaports," with all outside countries, a just and profitable basis.

CHINESE SITUATION. Discussing conditions in China, he described the government there as an "honest, unselfish, capable, industrious and harmonious organization, which realized that the country has not kept pace with others in the progressive march of nations and which was seeking a solution of China's problems."

One of the things chiefly needed by China now, Gary said, is first-class railroads, and in this connection he said it was to be earnestly hoped that American capitalists would participate in further loans which would permit rapid extension of railway lines. Gary believed that China was desirous of maintaining cordial relations with American business concerns and that she "wishes the open door policy to prevail."

SOUNDS WARNING. "Here," he said, "is a great field for operation on the part of American men which can be cultivated without injury or objection on the part of other nations and with decided benefit to China herself. I could wish that in some respects the conditions in the United States, which now exist, resulting, I think, from political agitation, might be modified."

It would be a grave mistake, the speaker said, for the United States to give up the Philippines. Discussing business conditions, Gary urged exercise of caution and preparedness for any "unfavorable changes." He said he believed if the present restrictive tariff remained unchanged there would be competition from foreign sources after the war which would "adversely and perhaps disastrously affect American industry and American labor."

BIRTH CONTROL VS. RACE SUICIDE

Subject Discussed Before the American Association; Other Issues Heard.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 27.—"Judicious birth control is not race suicide, but race preservation," said Dr. S. Adolphus Knopf, professor of medicine at the New York Post-Graduate Medical School and Hospital, in an address here today before the American Public Health Association. Vigorously urging repeal of federal laws prohibiting circulation of information as to birth control, Dr. Knopf pleaded for the establishment of free clinics directed by regular physicians of high repute, by city or by state, who would be competent to give information as to birth limitations in cases where they deemed such instruction advisable. At the conclusion of his paper Dr. Knopf gave the answers to a series of questions of inquiry sent to leading clergymen, jurists, sociologists and political economists, and their opinions were, he said, almost unanimous with those expressed by him.

"With the increase of the family," he said, "there is rarely, if ever, a corresponding income of the earnings of the father or mother, and as a result, malnutrition and insufficient clothing enter as factors to predispose to tuberculosis and other diseases. In the larger families it is usually the father who contracts tuberculosis most frequently. Fifty thousand children die annually from tuberculosis in the United States and the morbidity and mortality from this disease is highest among the poor where the number of children is greatest."

MATERNITY DEATHS. The deaths of 15,000 women in this country in 1913 from conditions caused by childbirth was the chief argument given by Dr. Knopf, chief of the Division of Hygiene of the Federal Children's Bureau, in a paper read today before the American Public Health Association, urging renewed efforts to convince women and their husbands of the need of skilled service for maternity. Approximately 7,000 of the total loss of life during childbirth was due to childbed fever, she declared.

In 1913 the death rate per 100,000 population from all conditions caused by childbirth was but little lower than that from typhoid fever," said Dr. Knopf, "and this rate would be almost quadrupled if only the group of the population which can be affected, women of childbearing age, are considered. In 1913 childbirth caused more deaths among women 15 to 44 years old than any other disease except tuberculosis. Only two of a group of fifteen important foreign countries show higher rates from this cause than the registration area of the United States."

DISCUSSES CANCER. Public diagnostic laboratories operated by state and city boards of health and state universities are now contributing effectively toward the reduction of the cancer death rate, according to Curtis E. Lakeman, executive secretary of the American Society for the Control of Cancer.

Discussing this topic at today's meeting of the Section on Public Health Administration of the American Public Health Association, Mr. Lakeman pointed out that the best medical authorities agree that cancer, like tuberculosis, must be treated at the earliest opportunity to insure the greatest hope of cure and it is believed that the provision of free public facilities for the examination of specimens of suspected cancerous tissue and the earlier recognition and more competent treatment of many cases wherever such laboratory service is provided by the state or city.

Calling attention to the fact that the New York State Institute for the Study of Malignant Disease at Buffalo some time ago offered to make free examinations of specimens sent in by any duly registered physician of New York State, Mr. Lakeman said that the laboratory now regularly examining ten or fifteen specimens a day and giving medical practitioners highly appreciated assistance and advice in bearing the proper treatment of their patients. The speaker continued:

"A special committee of the American Society for the Control of Cancer consisting of Dr. D. L. Bristol, Director of the State Laboratory of Cancer at Buffalo, Dr. James Ewing, Professor of Pathology at Cornell University Medical College, and Dr. F. C. Wood, Director of Cancer Research at Columbia University, has recently made a report on existing public facilities for the laboratory diagnosis of cancer. According to Dr. Bristol, chairman of this committee, twenty-four states out of the forty-eight have now made provision for the examination of suspected cancerous tissue either in their state public health laboratories or in their state university laboratories of pathology or preventive medicine. Of the twenty-four states which have facilities for making tumor diagnosis, five charge specified fees, six charge all persons except indigents, and thirteen make no charge in any case."

HURT IN COLLISION. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—In a collision between his wagon and an automobile at Central and Central avenue at 6 o'clock this morning Nuncio Vivaldi, a milk dealer of 2069 Hayes street, suffered a dislocated shoulder. He was cared for at the Park Emergency Hospital. The machine was driven by Jacques Oliver of 412 Church street.

Maryland Dancing Pavilion

After six weeks of preparation and at great expense the Maryland Dancing Pavilion on Kensington street, near Telegraph avenue, will open tomorrow night. High-priced artists, under the direction of Kem Weber, have made the pavilion a thing of beauty. In the color scheme, the working out of harmonious color effects and in presenting a restful and beautiful picture to the eye, the Maryland is without question the finest resort of the different nations of the world are designed by the artist. The dancing floor is 100 feet square, containing over 6000 square feet, making it one of the largest in the West. A special preparation has been put on the floor, insuring the comfort of the dancers. The music will be furnished by Prof. T. McCarthy's orchestra, which for years has played in the leading resorts, at the dances of the fraternity houses in Berkeley, the dances at Tahoe Tavern, San Francisco clubs and other places. Irving C. Perkins, well known ragtime piano player, is one of the orchestra.

The Maryland Dancing Pavilion is being opened by Myer Clark and Bud Drott. Clark is widely known as one of the leading amusement purveyors of the Pacific Coast and has a host of friends and admirers who will be pleased to hear that he is back of the venture. Popular prices will be charged, the admission to be 10 cents. The amusement-loving public is invited to attend the big opening tomorrow night. The resort will be run as a family gathering place and is expected to fill a long-felt want in Oakland.—Advertisement.

CHANCELLOR TO DELAY ADDRESS

Leaves Imperial Headquarters
—Had Been Expected to Answer Grey.

BERLIN, Oct. 27.—Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg unexpectedly departed from Imperial headquarters today, postponing his speech before the Reichstag. It was expected the chancellor would answer statements of Viscount Grey, accusing Germany of starting the war.

Vice-Chancellor Helfferich declared that the government only favors the discussion resolution as a war measure but parliamentary observers have no doubt that it is the beginning of a wedge to give the people's representatives a real voice in the government's foreign policies. At a caucus today, the Socialist members voted 67 to 15 to support the new $3,000,000 loan advocated by the government.

First Conviction by New Law Is Recorded

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—The first conviction under the new law which makes it a felony to fail to provide for an illegitimate child has been obtained in the case of Carl P. Haas, 56 Minna street, a woodworker, 70 years of age. Annette Shalman, a masseuse, who is mother of the 4-year-old child, was the complaining witness in the case. Superior Judge Griffith allowed Haas to be at liberty under $500 bail until Saturday, when he will sentence him.

Church Receives for Retiring Secretary

The Methodist Episcopal church extension society will give a reception to its retiring secretary, Rev. A. J. Hanson, and to Mrs. Hanson, at the Shattuck Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, thirty-third street and Shattuck avenue, Thursday evening, Nov. 2. Dr. Hanson, who has held that office for nine years, will do secretarial work in Sacramento. The office will be left vacant in the meantime.

END UP 'NEW CLOTHES WEEK' BY GETTING A SMART OUTFIT ON CREDIT

Perhaps you're one of the men who've figured that "Dress-Up Week" is all well enough for men whose incomes permit them to come out in new clothes whenever they choose, but that it's a different proposition for the man who works on a moderate salary and has to save a while to buy a new suit or overcoat. Now, this method of reasoning would be sound enough if a man had to pay cash for his clothes. But he DOESN'T if he trades at CHERRY'S Shop, the up-to-date store that clothes hundreds of men on installment payments.

When you pick out your suit or overcoat or both, CHERRY'S will pay only a moderate portion of the price. Then the credit department will arrange with you a schedule of installment payments, weekly or monthly, so that the outfit will be distributed over a reasonable length of time.

If it isn't convenient for you to get in during the day remember CHERRY'S stores are open until 10 o'clock p. m. Saturday. The Oakland store for men is located at 628 13th street, for women, across the street at 515 13th street. The San Francisco shops are at 1009 Market, above 6th, and 2400 Mission, corner 20th street. Other stores on the Pacific coast are at Portland, Tacoma, Los Angeles and Sacramento.—Advertisement.

Mrs. Boissevain Is Resting From Strain

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—Mrs. Inez Millholland Boissevain of New York, who was compelled to cancel her suffrage tour Wednesday was reported today resting easily at a hospital, where she was taken yesterday in preparation for an operation on her throat. She became ill Monday night, but made her address. Physicians said nervous strain had aggravated an affection of her tonsils.

Valuation on Entire Gill Site Not Shown

In addition to the block of property between Filbert and Linden streets and Twenty-sixth and Twenty-eighth streets, which the heirs of the Edward Gill estate have offered to the county as a site for a new hospital, there is also a large portion of an adjoining block included in the price of $75,000 made to the supervisors.

The entire parcel comprises approximately five and one-fourth acres and the land is assessed at a total of $27,700. Of this $16,900 is assessed on the block and $10,800 on the smaller piece, across the street.

In the comparison of assessment figures on the sites offered for a county hospital, published in The TRIBUNE last night, the assessor's valuation only on that portion considered useful for hospital purposes was given. The figure of $16,900 was given on the property included in the city block and not on the entire site, including the parcel across the street, as offered by the Gill estate heirs for $75,000.

Those who favor the site as the location for the hospital think that the street division of the property would not be detrimental to the institution and that it could be bridged over at the second story with the nurses' cottages on the smaller side.

AKED TO SPEAK. Rev. Charles F. Aked, formerly pastor of the First Congregational church, San Francisco, and one of the members of the Ford peace expedition, will speak at the Plymouth Congregational church Sunday night. The title of his address is in the nature of a question, Dr. Aked asking, "Is Prohibition Right?" The talk begins at 7:45 o'clock.

PRESERVE PARTIES!

The citizens of California are called upon to express, on November 7, their opinion on a proposal affecting vitally their right and opportunity to participate in the election of officials of the State and national government.

Shall the right of the legal voters to take part in and regulate government through party organizations be surrendered?

Proposition No. 4 on the November ballot, under the heading "Direct Primary Law," is a proposed amendment to the provisions of the direct primary law of 1913, governing nominations at primary elections, so as to permit declaration of party affiliation at the polls instead of when registering.

It is on the ballot as a result of the referendum invoked against the act of January 11, 1916, of the last extra session of the legislature. This special legislative act, which plainly disregarded the wishes of the voters of the State as expressed in the referendum election of October 26, 1915, destroys the integrity of political parties and places them at the absolute mercy of "bosses" and all their corrupt methods. It takes away from the people their right, inherited at the formation of the Republic from the colonial system, to organize as parties and thus make their ideas and votes effective in the administration of government.

The proposed law abolishes partisan registration, altogether. It provides that the voter go to the polls on primary election day and there only declare his intention to vote with a certain party, receive a ballot and be qualified to cast his ballot.

Such a legalized practice would permit the control of one party by its opponents and make party purity and honest elections things of the past. Under this measure a Republican could vote in a Democratic primary, and Democrats could be herded by the bosses to "pack" a Republican primary. A Republican, registered as such and sure of the nomination of his own party, especially if unopposed, could have his Republican supporters raid the Democratic party and steal the nomination of that party also. California does not want a return of these vicious tactics of the days of Chris Buckley and his gangsters.

The law requiring partisans to register their party affiliation before voting and compelling them to vote only in the primary of the party in which registered, was enacted to correct such abuses. It succeeded in doing so. The framers of the proposed law, now on the ballot as "No. 4," want a return to the former corrupt methods.

The people, in the referendum election of October 25, 1915, recorded their verdict against the non-partisan registration idea and the destruction of parties. Their decision was disregarded and it was necessary to invoke another referendum.

The people must again defeat the non-partisan registration scheme.

Vote "NO" on proposition 4.

In its issue of October 23d THE TRIBUNE, through a typographical inadvertence, stated that "Yes" was the correct way to vote. As the proposition is on the ballot, a negative vote will have the effect of rejecting the non-partisan registration scheme.

Vote in the negative.

A NEW RUSSIA.

Russia is certain to appear before the commercial world after the war as an entirely new people. The people have been stimulated to greater activity than by anything else in the history of their country. They have developed energy not generally suspected of them. The exigencies of the war have required railways to be built in every district and thousands of factories have sprung up to turn out supplies for the army.

With her unlimited resources, the 180,000,000 people of the Russian empire will perform many industrial feats when they get started. The factories and the new railroads will be turned over to industrial uses when peace is restored. Mining, diversified agriculture, stock-raising and meat packing, and manufacturing will enter a new era of advancement. This vast nation, with its variegated life, will require enormous material from other countries. The United States is already in a good strategic position to capture a good share of this trade. Our engineers are opening and developing mines, our manufacturers are supplying farming machinery, American machines are being installed in the manufacturing plants. Such preliminary connections will be of inestimable value in developing commerce with Russia, if that is to be done.

What is the United States going to do in the face of such opportunity? At present we have no commercial treaty with Russia. There are no American ships in the Pacific to carry our products to Russia's Far Eastern door, Vladivostok, and none will be available so long as existing navigation laws are unamended. Increased trade with Russia means greater prosperity for the Pacific Coast States.

ANOTHER OFFICIAL MISFIT.

Secretary Baker's defamation of General Washington and other heroes of the revolutionary war by comparing them with the Villa murderers of Santa Ysobel and Columbus was not the most disgraceful act he was capable of committing.

The Secretary of War uttered the charge yesterday that opponents of the administration plan an attack by Villa on General Pershing's column or upon some border town before election.

It will never be necessary to say that this charge is false; every American citizen of commonsense knows it to be false. Every citizen, whether he be Democrat or Republican, knows that it is also utterly unfounded, vicious in conception and brutally insulting to the average intelligence.

From motives of paltry political gains he accuses his political opponents of treason against their government. He charges them with contemplating an attack on the military forces of the United States and on American towns on the border. He charges that armed rebellion and civil war are to ensue between now and November 7.

Nobody knows better than Mr. Baker and the other leaders of the administration that this is an infamous falsehood. Villa and his bandits may be planning an attack at any time. Treacherous Carranza may be in collusion with them, but to intimate that Americans in the United States are in league with such plans, which is the impression Mr. Baker designs to give, is straightout treachery, in his official position, against over half of the citizens of the United States.

It has shown Newton D. Baker to be totally unfit for any government office, and, above all, for the important position of Secretary of War.

He is a more shameful misfit in public office than Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy. A vote for Wilson is a vote to retain in public service, at the head of the two most important branches of the government, mendacious, demagogic Baker and dreaming, meddling, incompetent Daniels.

The Socialist candidate for the presidency declares that the exportation of foodstuffs in the present war emergency is a menace. This characterization would not seem to be justified, unless the supply for home consumption is threatened; but from a national and material point of view the wisdom of it is open to discussion if exportation results in an advance of prices to our own people. From the generally understood socialistic point of view, however, it would not appear that any interference with the exportation of breadstuffs is justifiable. All men are brothers, and the brethren in Europe are finding it generally difficult to get enough to eat. By sending them our surplus we are doing that which naturally lies within our power to ease their burdens—to supply those in want from the stores of those who can spare.

This matter of getting presidential candidates into the formal and official running seems to have more to it than the casual person would think. It was almost three months after the St. Louis convention that Mr. Wilson was "informed" of the fact that he had been nominated, the public being gravely reminded of it every day meanwhile. The hiatus as to Hughes was shorter and much less characterized with publicity for sole political effect. But it was not until last Saturday that Secretary of State Jordan received notification from national headquarters that Charles Evans Hughes and Charles W. Fairbanks are respectively the Republican candidates for President and Vice-President. No purpose can be ascribed to this sort of delay.

Old Mr. Straw Vote is an unfeeling soul. He made a canvass of Princeton University, where Mr. Wilson spent many years of his life, as to the attitude of the students regarding the presidential campaign. Out of 1200 votes Mr. Hughes received a majority of 138.

"NOBLE DUTY UNSELFISHLY DONE."

(From the Chicago Evening Post.)
All of us have done a mighty good year's work. Thanks to our efforts in a publicity and consuming line, California is able to announce that it is the banner fruit-producing State of the Union, having exported $40,000,000 worth to its sister commonwealths and foreign nations.

Now we realize what we were working for when we fell for Orange Day and Cantaloupe Day and Ripe Olive Day. We were laboring for the glory of the great State of California.

Some day we may perhaps receive California's thanks, though there are as yet no signs of it. And some day in the far-off future we may even see California doing a little reciprocity by having a Corn Day in behalf of the great corn state of the Union's galaxy.

These are wild dreams, however. We must not let it disturb our serene consciousness of a noble duty unselfishly done. We must look pleasant and think how lovely it is to help others.

NOTES and COMMENT

The Supreme Court has fixed a limit to the powers of the Railroad Commission, which would seem to demonstrate that a limit is possible.

T. R. is positively shocking—from a certain political point of view. Here he has gone and said that the United States, being too proud to fight, got kicked.

The Municipal Research Bureau has discouraged high pressure in San Francisco affairs, though it has conceded a point as to its fire-extinguishing system.

The heading is to the effect that a miner was fined $50 for filling up a river bed. Any miner who does that and gets off for fifty is lucky. It ought to come higher.

A new $300,000,000 war loan is being negotiated by J. P. Morgan. The fact that it is to pay but 5 1/2 per cent interest indicates that somebody is expected to have faith in the debtor.

Not everybody stops to realize that when the price of a loaf is put up from 5 cents to 6, it means an advance of 20 per cent. A 20 per cent advance of an article of food is something to take account of, indeed.

The Hanford Sentinel's idea: "Secretary Baker's indiscreet comparison of Washington's colonial troops with Villa and Carranza's outthroats is just an indication of the freak temper and general inefficiency of Wilson's cabinet officers."

We read in the news columns that flour soars to $10 a barrel, and in the market reports that buyers "break the market after an excited rise, and close is weak." Which leaves the situation uncertain, except that bread always costs more after such gyrations.

California farmers would profit by the rise in wheat if they were raising wheat to the extent that they raised it forty years ago. At present they would profit more by peace conditions that make for the greater purchase of oranges, prunes, raisins and such products.

The Avalon Islander, expert on all fish and thny subjects, says: "The reputed head of the San Francisco fish trust is accused of 'throwing a monkey wrench into the machinery.' It would have been more appropriate to have hurled a harpoon, or disabled the machinery with an old fish-net."

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

Tons of yellowtail are being net-caught in Santa Barbara channel, and rumor has it they are joining the unhappy albino as "Canned Tuna." One carrier of the name is getting $50 a day, and the big catches to $1500 to a boat and four men.—Avalon Islander.

A gold watch and chain dropped overboard in 40 feet of water by Captain A. Woodside of San Francisco was recovered Monday morning by F. Arce, a local diver. The lost articles had lain on the sandy bottom of the bay for two weeks.—Avalon Islander.

Our idea of efficiency in advertising the resources of Yuba county would be to raise a fund to send out sand dollars and spend that money in advertising Yuba county in eastern magazines and newspapers.—Marysville Appeal.

George Loher is suffering from a severe injury to the head of a freak accident. Two days ago he was attempting to crank his automobile. The engine back-fired, causing the crank handle to imbed itself in his leg. Several particles of clothing penetrated the wound and set up an irritation which has probably caused blood poisoning.—Richmond Record-Herald.

WALL STREET CHUCKLING.

There were smiles, and grins, and finally shouts of laughter, in Wall street the other day when President Wilson told a group of his admirers at Shadow Lawn that he had "divorced the treasury department from Wall street." There are many brokers in Wall street who keenly recall the time when William Gibbs McAdoo, Mr. Wilson's son-in-law and secretary of the treasury, was one of them; was, in fact, member of the firm of Pemberton & McAdoo, Wall street brokers, exploiters of the New York and New Jersey Railroad Company, the Hudson and Manhattan Railway Company and promoters of certain other enterprises. It's not so very long ago that McAdoo was a member of the firm of Pemberton & McAdoo, less than fifteen years. A survey of the history of the Stock Exchange throws some interesting sidelights on the conduct of McAdoo and the character of the securities he exploited. And, incidentally, it reveals the hypocrisy of Mr. Wilson's contention that he has divorced the treasury from Wall street, when has put an ex-Walker, a Wall street broker, to be his son-in-law, in charge of the treasury and all the vast responsibilities connected therewith. It is commonly remarked in Wall street that the next exploit of Woodrow Wilson will be to accept the presidency of the Society for the Prevention of Second Marriages. And now Secretary McAdoo is stumping the country for his papa-in-law, telling the people that Mr. Wilson's greatest achievement has been the expulsion of Wall street from the treasury.

BEFORE THE STORM.

The day was dark and windy, and the storm was sweeping free across the lonely country, and the sky line seemed to be a mass of molten thunder in the hollow of a sea.

We rode across the country, and the horses seemed to fly. For they felt the lurking danger in the clouds that hung on high. And they trembled as the lightning ripped the curtain of the sky.

Came a peal of belching cannon from that cloud without a form. The air grew breathless, lifeless, for the wind was sullen, warm; And, praying in the heavy dark, we fled before the storm.

AGAINST FRANCHISE.

To the Editor of The Tribune:

In last Saturday's issue of THE TRIBUNE, on page 4, column 3, you published an article giving an account of the meeting held by the Lakeview Improvement Club, at which the proposed indeterminate street railway franchise was discussed.

From the wording of the article a reader might infer that the undersigned also spoke in favor of the proposed franchise, which, however, was not the case, as I in no uncertain terms voiced my disapproval of the indeterminate franchise.

Several acquaintances have called my attention to the article in THE TRIBUNE, and, as I value the good opinion of the fellow citizens who are opposed to this perpetual franchise, I ask that you publish this letter in order to correct the impression which your article no doubt unintentionally created.

FREDERICK SODERBERG.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

The engagement is announced of Miss Isabelle E. Mangine and Charles Baab, a Broadway merchant.

A. W. J. Gibbs, who has been on a lecture tour through the United States, Canada and England, will soon return to his Alameda home.

A burglar last night made a futile attempt to rob the rooms at the "Manning" occupied by Miss L. C. Cole, the assistant librarian, and her mother.

The Women's Republican Club held a very interesting meeting last night in the Army and Navy League headquarters. Captain W. R. Thomas presided.

Miss Martha Stone has announced her engagement to W. H. Chase.

DO YOUR THANKSGIVING EARLY!

Perhaps one idea in the move for an earlier Thanksgiving Day is that if the cost of living and other things continue at the present rate, we had better be in a hurry or there will be nothing left to be thankful for—unless the voters decide for a release from present conditions.—Baltimore American.

TRAIN HITS CARPENTER; DEATH NEAR

While crossing the Southern Pacific tracks at the foot of Seventh avenue this morning, J. N. McQueen, a carpenter, residing at 328 Park way, was run down by an Alameda Horseshoe train, receiving injuries that will probably prove fatal. According to passersby McQueen seemed bewildered by the sudden crush of the train and hesitated before stepping from the tracks. His leg was amputated below the knee by the wheels, his scalp was almost torn away and abrasions and bruises suffered over the entire body.

Emergency hospital surgeons fear that a surgical amputation of the portion of the limb still remaining will bring death to the injured man, who is already suffering from extreme shock. Should the man's condition take a turn for the better during the afternoon an operation will be performed.

McQueen was on his way to work at 7:15 o'clock this morning when the accident occurred. It is thought that he did not estimate the speed of the electric train while crossing the tracks and that when the motorman rang his warning bell McQueen became bewildered.

The train was coming toward Oakland when McQueen was run down. Conductor E. B. Clark and Motorman G. Wamsley were in charge. Passersby called for the police ambulance. Dr. H. E. Franck and Steward C. M. Emlay attended the wounded man at the hospital.

TO ENTERTAIN MOORE.—SAN DIEGO, Oct. 27.—Charles C. Moore, who, as president of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition did more receiving and entertaining during 1915 than a European potentate in the height of the social season, will have the tables turned on him the latter part of the week when he is to be made the guest of the Panama-California International Exposition at San Diego. President G. A. Davidson is now planning a number of compliments to the San Franciscan and all plans have been tempered by Mr. Moore's request that there be "no ceremony."

TRIBUNE ELECTION SERVICE TO BE GREATEST ON RECORD

TRIBUNE Election Service—City Hall Plaza. These words will spell the most efficient election service ever given. They will mean that the entire community will be guests of The TRIBUNE to watch the returns of the Presidential election Tuesday night, November 7.

Here are some of the features: Large screens upon which election figures have ever been displayed.

Full Associated Press service from every state.

Full United Press service from every state.

These are the two greatest news service corporations in America.

Concert by brass band of fifty pieces.

Open-air vaudeville performance.

Motion picture show, presenting films of the Presidential candidates and other men and women of national reputation.

Special service for local election returns.

Special service for California election returns.

Bombs and colored fire from the top of the City Hall to announce to the citizens the result of the Presidential contest.

The shows will be visible from all parts of the city.

In addition to the great throngs which will watch the election returns on the TRIBUNE screen at the City Hall plaza, arrangements have been made to give full TRIBUNE service at the following theaters on the night of election:

Orpheum.
Macdonough.
Pantages.
Columbia.

The huge TRIBUNE election return screen upon which the figures will be displayed to write the history of one of the greatest political contests in American history will face the City Hall plaza from the east side of San Pablo avenue. It will be erected on the facade of the Kahn Bros. building.

CLEARNESS ASSURED.—The most powerful projector obtainable has been chartered to throw the election returns on this great screen. The size and clearness of the figures will make it possible to read them even on the outskirts of the great crowd which will assemble.

TRIBUNE service on the national baseball series was watched from San Pablo avenue, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets, by crowds numbering 5000 and 6000 people. The news service will double this capacity.

The TRIBUNE will make the citizens its guests not only in the election service, but at a public entertainment at 8 o'clock. The best band available has been retained and will give a continuous concert. There will be some clever vaudevills work, singing, dancing and fun-making of the de luxe type.

On the screen the news will be flashed with the speed and accuracy which marks the two great news services, augmented by a special TRIBUNE news service covering Alameda county.

This TRIBUNE news service will be as full and comprehensive as the time will permit. TRIBUNE representatives will be at polling places, at the county hall of records and at the headquarters of the Republican and Democratic candidates and committees in the county. They will speed the first reliable information on all contests, national, state and local, to a central bureau. There the returns will be compared and tabulated and transmitted to the screen.

ALL LINES COVERED.—Complete and tabulated returns on the election as fast as these are available will be rushed to the waiting crowds in TRIBUNE extras, run off at top speed from the TRIBUNE presses. These will be carried through the crowds.

Announcement will be made later of the system of signals, of bombs and colored fire to be displayed from the entire city, to be seen from Alameda and from the Berkeley hills, giving the final result of the Presidential contest.

Russians to Buy Tractors Local Firm May Get Order

Caterpillar tractors will be supplied in large numbers to the Russian government by the C. L. Best Gas Traction Company of Oakland and San Leandro, if present negotiations are successfully concluded. Officials of the concern said today that huge tractors built in the Elmhurst plant had been sent to Russia for agricultural purposes at different times since the outbreak of the war. They anticipate that exhaustive tests made by the Russian government will result in much larger orders in future. The Best Company has not manufactured any tractors for the English government.

In order to cope with the increasing demand by foreign governments for the famous caterpillars and also to meet with their growing popularity in this country, the Best Gas Traction Company has greatly enlarged its plant and recently constructed works at San Leandro capable of turning out five tractors a day.

That the caterpillar tractors supplied by American manufacturers to the British, French and Russian governments formed the "deadly tanks," or "land battle-ships," was scouted by officials of the Best concern. "We have it on good authority that the so-called 'tanks' are purely of British manufacture and designed by the British government, although an American invention," declared Richard Tompkinson, one of the managers of the Best plant. "The 'tanks' are huge machines, several times larger than any caterpillar tractors manufactured in this country," Tompkinson continued. "I believe the only fighting use to which American tractors have been put is in drawing guns at the front. They are eminently suited for that purpose."

Tompkinson admitted that the Best Company was given the chance some time ago to manufacture caterpillar tractors for the British government, but had not taken advantage of it. Continuing, Tompkinson said: "Mr. Best desires that tractors of our manufacture shall be used exclusively for peaceful purposes; those sent to Russia are designed for agricultural purposes and there is no intention so far as we know to put them to any other use."

In keeping with its policy to manufacture tractors only for peace uses, the Best Company has lately secured many important orders from neutral countries, a considerable number having been sent to Mexico. Eighteen tractors have been dispatched from Oakland to Cuba in the last sixty days and many others have been sent to the Hawaiian Islands and even to the Fiji Islands.

Envoys of the Russian government here at present to investigate different types of tractors have not visited the Best plant in person so far, according to Tompkinson, but the concern has been in close touch with high government officials for some time.

MASTER MIND SOUGHT IN MURDER CASE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—Whether Benton L. Barrett, aged farmer, is guilty of murder or whether, in turn, he is the victim of an alleged powerful hypnotist, is a mystery that may only be solved by a jury trial, in the opinion of District Attorney Woolwine.

"We have sufficient evidence to go to trial and convict Benton Barrett of murder in the first degree," declared Woolwine today. His statement was backed up by the finding of Dr. Lyman B. Stooker, anatomist, who examined the bones said to be those of Mrs. Benton Barrett and Raymond Wright, her 17-year-old son. Dr. Stooker declared the bones to be those of persons who recently died.

"There is no evidence to show that Benton L. Barrett is guilty of murder. We are in a position to prove him innocent," declared Dr. D. Collings, attorney for the defense. Collings' statement was supported by Captain H. R. Simmer, an expert investigator, who declared the bones found in an abandoned house on the farm were those of a person who had been dead for a long time. Collings declared he has information of a skeleton having been stolen recently. He declined to give details in this matter.

GAMBLERS IN ROW; CHIEF WHITE HAPPY

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—When gamblers fall out there is cause for police celebration, according to Chief White, who today smiled and expressed great satisfaction over a reported wrangle between Frank Daroux and his former partner, Al Konigsberg. Pert Tichenor is alleged to have slapped Konigsberg in the face in front of the St. Francis hotel following a quarrel, and the latter, it is claimed, has promised to expose what he knows about the gambling enterprises in which Tichenor is alleged to be interested in with Daroux.

"I don't know anything about the scrap," said Chief White, "but the more they do the better I like it. The one thorn in my side recently has been the surreptitious opening of a gambling house here and there, and if I can eliminate this I will rest easy. I don't care who the gamblers are or how much they fight if only I can land them every time they open a new joint. We are hot on their trail now. Showed them the last time when we gathered in 230 of Daroux's patrons at one crack."

Pawned Coat to Go Back to Work

Man, in Light Attire, Is Arrested; He Explains

The air was nipping and eager at 1:10 o'clock this morning.

Therefore Auto-Patrolmen Taldeman and Brown were surprised when they spied a coatless man walking out Broadway at College avenue. They halted him and demanded the reason for his light attire.

"My name is Frank J. Bruner," declared the pedestrian. "I live in Walnut Creek. I spent all my money down town tonight and I pawned my coat so that I would have a dollar or two in my pocket when I got back to work this morning."

Bruner was taken to the northern police station and questioned by Captain Lynch. He stuck to his story of involuntary poverty and was finally permitted to continue his lonely pilgrimage over the hills.

DIES IN YARDS.—William Coy, for eighteen years a deckhand on ferryboats, dropped dead at the Southern Pacific shipyard yesterday afternoon. He was forced to resign his position some time ago on account of the new seamen's bill and was given a position at the yards. He leaves a mother and sister, who live in this city.

FOUND DYING, VICTIM OF UNSEEN FOE

Charles Coach, driver for a meat market, 26 years old, is at the point of death at the Emergency hospital, while the police are investigating the circumstances surrounding his injury. He was found at 5 o'clock this morning lying in an alleyway adjoining his home at 1324 Thirty-fourth street. He was unconscious and his skull was fractured.

James Siefert, who lives in the adjoining house at 1316 Thirty-fourth street, heard Coach return to his home at 1:30 o'clock this morning. It was Siefert who found his unconscious body early today and notified the police. Police inspectors are working on the theory that Coach was struck from behind by some enemy as he entered the dark, narrow alleyway.

Robbery was not the motive. Coach's money, watch and other possessions were on his person. He is in a precarious condition, as the fracture is a severe one. Coach is under the care of Dr. W. H. Irwin.

'SPEND MORE ON SCHOOLS' DR. WILBUR

Stanford Head Places Education Above Public Works; Children First, He Urges Before Guests at Teacher Feast

Plea Made for Better Financing of Institutions of Learning; Local Problems Are Considered by Speakers at Affair

Declaring that the teacher was the most potent factor in every community, and that the budget appropriations for the Board of Education should exceed those of the Board of Public Works, Dr. Raymond Wilbur, new head of Stanford University, last night addressed more than three hundred members of Oakland School Women's club, at a luncheon in his honor and that of Dr. Aurea Rinehardt, president of Mills College, and J. W. McClymonds, former city superintendent of schools. "Millionaires and paupers look much alike when they are stripped," declared Dr. Wilbur. "Yet there is a difference, and that difference lies in character, in the mental attributes developed through educational processes. The school department of every community should be kept ahead of everything else. The most money of our municipal government should be spent by the school boards."

MISS BROWN PRESIDES. Miss Annie Florence Brown, president of the Board of Education, who was toastmistress of the occasion, subjected the David Starr Jordan administration at Stanford to criticism when she introduced Dr. Wilbur to her audience as "the man who is doing away with snobbery and the habit of burning incense to money which has been current in university circles."

Dr. Aurea Rinehardt, president of Mills College, urged the teaching of languages and history in the schools, in her address to the body of teachers. "Political meetings show the need of historical knowledge more than any other thing," she said. "We must teach the children of the country to know that education is like a Ford—all it needs is adjustment to keep going. When we have solved the words 'education' and 'democracy' we have solved the whole problem of America. The problem of education today is to prepare the child for what it needs most to do."

J. W. McClymonds, former city superintendent of schools and one of the educators in the state, declared that the proposed consolidation of city and county government was the solution of Alameda county's educational troubles.

FINANCIAL PROBLEMS. "There is something wrong in the financing of the schools today," said McClymonds. "The bond issue is wrong—it should be by direct primary tax. The only arrangement we have now aside from a bond issue is by personal tax. The State of California is giving $500,000 in school money, is lost before it gets to the schools. It is also wrong to let the supervisors levy the school tax. This should be the work of the Board of Education who spend the money."

The meeting of the Oakland School Women's Club last night was in the nature of an annual affair. Superintendent of Schools C. B. Barrett, Dr. Wilbur, Dr. Rinehardt and former Superintendent McClymonds, as the guests of the evening. Following the banquet the assembly danced until a late hour. Music was furnished by the Oakland Technical High School band under direction of Professor Herman Trutner.

To Hold Funeral for Miss Clara Sherman

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—Funeral services for the late Miss Clara Sherman, 34-year-old teacher, who died at her apartment house, 1801 California street, will be held tomorrow morning from a local undertaking chapel. Interment is to be private.

Miss Sherman was the sister of Leonard S. Sherman, president of the firm of Sherman & Clay, Charles H. Sherman, Clara Sherman and Mrs. P. A. Hyde. A native of Boston, 14 years in California, she had lived here many years, where she had taught in the local schools. For the past few years, before her retirement from the school department, she had been a teacher at the Denman School.

Miss Sherman died in an emergency hospital ambulance, following a fall through a skylight in the attic of her residence.

Stork Is Traveler on Transbay Ferry

Just as the ferryboat, Newark, entered the San Francisco slip on the 5:20 trip from the Oakland pier the stork added one to the sum total of travelers and commuters.

David Campbell of Sacramento, instead of arriving at the home of the friends she had planned to visit, found herself instead at the Emergency hospital after leaving the Newark, which had a new daughter. Both are reported as concluding the day well.

When the situation became known to Steward John Mulr of the Newark yesterday, it was arranged to take the mother taken to the ferryboat's upper deck and as soon as the boat pushed into the slip the Harbor Emergency ambulance was summoned.

They're Coming, And Coming Fast! Speed Cops! Look Out! May 'Pinch' Officials

A "speed cop" somewhere on the long stretch of road between Oakland and Lake Tahoe may make the haul of his life if he is sufficiently alert and is there at the opportune moment. He stands a chance of bagging in one glorious coup as high officials in their own spheres as the opposing European armies capture in one of their big drives.

Rolling luxuriously toward Lake Tahoe today in a big touring car with potential speed powers are representatives of almost every department of Alameda county officialdom. They are on their way to the mountains for a week's relaxation and intend to stay a whole day at the lake and return to town in time to attend to duty Monday. That means time must be made on the trip and their friends calculate that at one stage or other of the journey they are bound to break one or other of the laws which they take a hand in framing—that of speed for instance.

Here are the officials who, 'tis said, may take a chance of figuring before the speed court: Supervisor Charles W. Heyer, Justice of the Peace Charles Prowse, F. I. Lemons, clerk of the Hay ward grammar school board of trustees; William Zambresky, deputy county clerk, and Victor La Grave, prominent lodge man of Hayward.

LIVING COST GOES UP IN BOUNDS

Chicago Figures Show Startling Rise in All Commodities

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—The cost of feeding a family in Chicago has increased just 5 1/2 per cent within the last year, according to figures compiled by a local newspaper and made public today. Specifically, to provide the same family with the same quality and quantity of food costs more by more than one-half than was the cost a year ago. And the great increase, according to the figures, is in the actual necessities of life—flour, potatoes, sugar, meat, butter and beans.

In reaching these conclusions the case of the family of a tailor was taken. It cost him just $18.45 to feed his family of himself, his wife and eight children last week, ending October 21. For the same week in 1915 it cost him $12.69 to feed his family and except for a few items it was shown that the family used practically the same amount, quality and kinds of food.

Grocers have today predicted further advances in the cost of food products to consumers. The staple canned goods—mainstays of the winter—are going up fifty per cent, according to advance notices sent out by some of the retail dealers.

Official Asks Probe; Indictments Follow

REDWOOD CITY, Oct. 27.—Following the resignation several months ago of George B. Jones, tax collector and city marshal of Burlingame, and his consequent flight to San Francisco, a grand jury investigation, that body has brought in a six-count indictment, charging the former official with felony embezzlement. A short time ago the grand jury indicted Jones on a charge of receiving stolen goods, which Jones made good the amount and demanded a county grand jury investigation.

The testimony of twenty-seven witnesses was taken by the inquisitorial body, who charge Jones with appropriating for his own use the following sums: $50,000 license fee paid by Robert Chapman; $25 merchandise license, paid by the Easton Grocery; $50 itiney license, paid by Fred Colby; $100 itiney license, paid by George V. Richardson; $55 merchandise license, paid by Lorton & Moriken, grocers, and a $5 peddler's license, paid by Fred Markos—a total of $208.

What Is an Internal Bath?

MUCH has been said and written about the present generation living unnatural lives and being, for that reason, only half as energetic, enthusiastic, ambitious or even healthy as it should be. And this is true.

The confined lives that we live, the lack of constant exercise (for it must be constant to be effective), and the strenuous requirements of our business or social duties, directly bring on a condition to which little attention has been paid in the past, though it does more to rob us of power, spirit and ambition than any other one thing known to medicine.

But Nature has provided, as in so many other cases, an immediate and perfectly natural relief for this condition, and over five hundred thousand Americans are already taking advantage of it.

When you are ill and a physician is called, the first step that he takes, NO MATTER WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH YOU, is to clean out the colon (large intestine).

There are two reasons for this: One is that medicine will take little or no effect while there is waste matter in the colon.

The other and MOST SIGNIFICANT REASON is that if the colon did not contain this waste, it is safe to say that you WOULD NOT HAVE BEEN ILL AT ALL.

The penalty for the lives we live is agreed on by all physicians to be the clogging up of our colons with waste matter which the system does not voluntarily carry off.

This waste is extremely poisonous; the blood circulation comes in sufficiently close contact with this waste to take up these poisons by absorption and distribute them throughout the body.

"J. B. L. CASCADES" AT

The result is a gradual weakening of the blood forces; the liver becomes sluggish; biliousness asserts itself; we become heavy, dull and develop a more or less nervous fear of anything we undertake. The more this waste accumulates the more we are affected until at last we BECOME REALLY ILL and incapable.

Now the Internal Bath by means of the "J. B. L. Cascade" is the one process with the assistance of simple warm water, properly introduced in a new and natural way, that will keep the colon as clean and as sweet and pure as Nature demands it to be for perfect health.

Enlightened physicians by thousands are prescribing this new method, which is fully explained in a little book called "The What, the Why, the Way of Internal Bathing," by Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, who is a specialist on this subject.

You can obtain one of these free upon request at The Owl Drug Co., where the "J. B. L. Cascade" will also be shown and explained. It explains just why this method has proven superior to any other for removing this troublesome waste; how the "J. B. L. Cascade" gives the bath in the most natural and effective way; also many other interesting facts and statistics which cannot be touched on here.

So if you are nearly well and want to get really up to "concert pitch"; if you want to feel consistently bright, confident, ambitious and enthusiastic—in fact, no matter what your condition, sick or well, the experience of other hundreds of thousands would prove it worth your while to at least call at one of our stores and get a free copy of this valuable book, and look further into this method and its history.

PENS NOTE TO WIFE; IS FOUND DEAD

Mystery Surrounds Violent End of San Francisco Manufacturer; Financial Losses May Be One Motive of Suicide

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—F. M. Elmdorf, known here as a wealthy manufacturer of San Francisco, was found dead in bed today, shot through the heart, with a discharged revolver beside him, in his room at the Angelus hotel. His failure to answer a telephone call caused the room to be entered by hotel employees. A letter addressed to his wife, stamped and sealed, found in the room, was forwarded to her.

Elmdorf was president of the Elmdorf Cotton Company, 731 Market street, and lived with his wife, Ada; his daughter, Marjory, and his mother at 2417 Green street. As far as could be learned Elmdorf's business has been good up to recently, when it is understood he lost some money in the establishment of a new branch. He had been away from San Francisco for five weeks, traveling in the southern part of the state, and his partner, Philip Rupert, is now at Bakersfield. Mrs. Elmdorf had not received the letter written by her husband and could not account in any way for his alleged suicide. Elmdorf was about 44 years old.

"Ninth Inning" Plans Complete Final Campaign Rallies Are Arranged

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—Arrangements for the "ninth inning" rallies in behalf of the presidential candidates were completed today. Beginning tonight with Republican meetings in different parts of San Francisco, a week of strenuous campaigning will be on in California. Leading Republicans have placed themselves at the disposal of the state central committee and will speak for Hughes through the state. From five to ten meetings in different towns have been scheduled for every night next week.

The Democratic campaign windup will start tomorrow, which is to be observed throughout the nation as "Woodrow Wilson day." A grand rally will be held here in the afternoon, when prominent workers will speak. Democrats will visit every village and hamlet of California, speaking for Wilson's re-election.

DEMOCRACY FLAYED BY C. H. ROWELL

Former Progressive, Now the Chairman of State Central Committee, Is Heard.

BENKELEY, Oct. 27.—Indications in President Wilson's handling of the Mexican situation of a vacillating policy which the American people could not well tolerate in their executive were the theme of an address which Chester Rowell, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, and regent of the University of California, delivered before a large audience last evening in the Berkeley high school auditorium. Rowell found cause for disbelieving that the present administration would be able to come to the problems of industrial reconstruction which the close of the European conflict would precipitate.

He saw the breaking down of the Democratic chief campaign claim that "Wilson has kept us out of war" in the declaration of the President at Cincinnati that the situation of a neutral nation in any great world disturbance had become intolerable. President Hughes was lauded for his firm dependence upon facts and his characteristic contrasted with President Wilson's advancement of theories more or less original.

Robert G. Spruill, assistant controller of the University, acted as chairman of the meeting. Rowell's address was in the main as follows:

ALL TESTS FAIL.

Mexico has served the voters of this country as a laboratory in which to test the administrative ability of Woodrow Wilson. By neither intervening in that distressed country nor staying out of it, President Wilson betrayed a policy of vacillation which makes us question the wisdom of further entrusting him with national affairs.

My criticism is neither that he did not do it nor recognize Huerta, but that he found it impossible to decide upon any specific course at all. On the contrary, he recognized a president who gained the chair in Peru under exactly similar conditions to those which surrounded Huerta's rise to power.

This state of Mr. Wilson's mind foretells what we have to expect from him in other situations. One of these situations, more pertinent to this nation, even than the Mexican imbroglio, is the unavoidable participation in the industrial war which will result from the present conflict on European battlefields. The termination of the struggle there will see the world plunged into a new era of reconstruction. It is the duty of the administration to assume its share therein.

So long as the party of President Wilson is in power, it should be without such a tariff system as will assist us in the industrial reconstruction, any part of which will be a tariff. Nationalism, in internationalism, will function in that relation. The Republican party, in its scope and intent, will be our only protection against the tariff.

WANTS FACTS.

Mr. Hughes is America's first fanatic for facts. The acquisition of facts upon which to base his decisions is characteristic of him in the onset of any problem. We have come, on the contrary, to expect Mr. Wilson to frame his decisions on the basis of theories which he may believe to be reputable and to be his own, but which we have before now discovered to be merely the fine phrasing of an opinion of other men.

In "The New Freedom" he has advanced ideas regarding the control of industry which he thought might be of use to the nation. The trust-busting policy of the Democratic party, by destroying the greater concentrations of capital and their accumulative power, has been vicious. It has thrown into the industrial world competing fragments of trusts, which are bound to impede progress and to be otherwise of bad effect.

Again, in his recent speech in Cincinnati, Mr. Wilson has failed of consistency. When he pronounces such a dictum as that the industrial nation of the world affairs has ceased to exist, and as that in the next great world conflict America must take a physical as well as a diplomatic part, he entirely abandons the point of view which he has assumed to be his. Whether speaking in Cincinnati to a largely German audience, he thought it best to flatter the hyphenate element, or not, the results of that speech gave the final lie to the Democratic slogan of this campaign, "He has kept us out of war."

ROOSEVELT AT CHICAGO HITS HYPHENATES

Wilson "Speaks Softly" and Carries Powder Puff," Says Colonel in Depreciation of the Police of Democratic Party

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—Answering published reports that he was to be an "easygoing" speaker, the former president of the United States, Theodore Roosevelt, today announced he will make probably five more speeches in the interests of the Republican presidential candidate.

Declines Baltimore, the colonel will speak at Cooper Union in New York City, probably next Friday evening, and at Cleveland and earlier in the week. The Baltimore speech is set for next Saturday evening. He speaks in Brooklyn tomorrow night.

The colonel denied the reports of friction in the following statement:

ALL NONSENSE.

"It's all nonsense. I am in absolute agreement with the managers of the campaign, with Mr. Hirt, Mr. Wilcox and Mr. Perkins. The question here was whether all the time and money should be expended in the evening or afternoon. The gentlemen named asked me only to state my innermost and best convictions as strongly as I desired. I am in entire harmony with them. The only question I had to decide yesterday was whether I could meet the desires of the chairman and the national committee of Ohio and speak in Cleveland. I decided to go. I am happy to say I have been able to do so. I have also accepted the kind offer of Mr. Van Hook to speak at Cooper Union next Friday. I shall speak at Baltimore Saturday of next week.

The colonel's party left here this morning at 8:35 over the New York Central and will reach New York at 8 o'clock tomorrow. By that time, he expects there the trip will have included speaking through fourteen states and 6000 miles of travel.

Today is the colonel's birthday. He is 58 and says he is as replete with Roosevelt ginger and pep as of old. He looks it today and he looks it every day when he is given a reception that everyone here said was noisier, bigger and more enthusiastic than those he has given at other places.

He spoke twice. In the afternoon he hit his emphatic mark and spoke on woman suffrage and Americanism before 4000 women who packed the auditorium. In the evening he even went stronger against "hyphenates" and many and any citizens who are of the "fifty-fifty" variety. The meeting at the stock yards pavilion in the evening was unique. Bedlam got loose the minute he catapulted his way through the crowd and he should have been excessively noisy for thirty-five minutes. The speech in the afternoon was very similar to the one he delivered to the women in Denver Tuesday night. Except that the colonel was more biting in his denunciation of hyphenates. And his condemnation of Wilson's administration before 4000 women who packed the auditorium. In the evening he even went stronger against "hyphenates" and many and any citizens who are of the "fifty-fifty" variety.

CARRIES POWDER PUFF.

"It is more true to say he speaks softly and carries a powder puff," said Roosevelt.

He described "peace at any price" as being "gentlemen who shoulders slope down the back of their necks. Wilson has kept us out of war."

Interrupted only once at the evening meeting by heckling, which he should have done with Germany," the colonel called it a fair question and said:

"The first place I never would have gotten in that fix. But if I had I should have seized every interned German ship in our ports. The second place I should have seized every interned German ship in our ports. The third place I should have seized every interned German ship in our ports. ## DOCK &amp; DECK

As a result of the food supply ship breaking down twice and having to turn back, the inhabitants of Kuskokwim River, Alaska, will soon be faced with a serious shortage of food. Captain Louis Knudsen, master of the schooner Kuskokwim, which has arrived here from that station, reports: "They will run short of sugar and butter and the supply of coal and gasoline will be exhausted before their supplies can be replenished."

Supplies of food and fuel to tide the inhabitants of Kuskokwim River over the winter were taken up to Alaska from Seattle by the power schooner Kuskokwim River on her maiden voyage. She lost her propellers off Kodiak Island. A tug towed her back to Seattle and she again started for Kuskokwim River when a breakdown of the engines necessitated her return a second time before she had reached her destination. On the second trip the tug was able to make the little northern station now until spring, when the settlers there will have to escape along on very short rations or be faced with famine.

OAKLAND SAILING SHIP.

LOADS LUMBER FOR AUSTRALIA.

The ship Star of Poland, owned by the Alaska Packers Association, has loaded a cargo of 1,750,000 feet of lumber at Puget Sound for Australia. She is under charter to Balfour, Guthrie & Co. and will sail in a few days. A cargo of 50,000 cases of salmon was brought here from the Star of Poland. She will return to the Antipodes in time to sail to Alaska with the salmon fleet next season.

BIG VESSELS ON DRYDOCK AT UNION IRON WORKS.

The four-masted bark Drakelund of Greenland is on the drydock at the Union Iron Works in Oakland harbor. She will be given a general overhauling and alterations will be made on the deck.

The steam schooner Daisy Gadsby, which was near Drake's Bay last Saturday, is also on the drydock at the same yards. Her stern post and part of the hull were badly damaged.

Hull No. 185, as one of the new freighters, will be launched in about two weeks. She has been sold to a Norwegian firm.

HEAVY FOG PREVALENT OFF CALIFORNIA COAST.

Heavy fog prevails along the California, Oregon and Washington coast, and is hindering much of the shipping as it enters and leaves harbors.

Reports from St. Paul and St. George indicate that the fog is blowing at the rate of 35 miles an hour and heavy seas are running. This will make a bad trip for the few steamers now on their way to Alaska. The cutter Bear is still in Alaskan waters, endeavoring to give assistance to ships in distress.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—Alice Hummel, aged 14, whom the police of San Francisco have been asked to take into custody if possible, disappeared from St. Elizabeth's school here Friday night. She is believed to have left the place in the company of a man.

A letter from the girl reached a friend at the school Monday and gave the authorities here the first information as to her whereabouts. The letter is now in the hands of Detectives William B. White and Fred Parsons.

Bass Leaps Into Boat; Children Are Periled

LAKE MILLS, Wis., Oct. 27.—A five and one-half pound black bass jumped into the rowboat of Lloyd and Jane Thomas of Waukesha, 10 and 12 years old, respectively.

Because of the confusion that followed the boat was nearly capsized. Other fishermen on Fox river came to the rescue of the children, who were badly frightened by the antics of the fish.

It has been reported that on at least six occasions this summer fish have jumped into boats on the Fox river and other Northern Wisconsin lakes. They become frightened, it is said, when struck by the motor boats, which they are unable to see at a distance because of the dirty water.

DIVES THROUGH WINDOW; ESCAPES

SANTA CRUZ, Oct. 27.—J. H. Williams, said by the police to be a member of a gang that has been flooding the country with bogus $10 Federal bills, made a sensational escape from a window to the pavement ten feet below.

A volley of bullets was sent after him, but he got away, found a hiding place in the river bottom and was not recaptured for three hours.

Harry M. Moffitt, agent in charge of the United States secret service bureau, San Francisco, left for the latter city with the prisoner tonight.

WOMAN PLAYS HER PART IN THE NEW

MODESTO, Oct. 27.—A Modesto wedding that will interest a large number of the younger social set of the bay cities, and especially of the University class of California, was that of Miss Lena Schaefer, honor graduate of the 1916 class of the university, and prominent Alpha Psi, and Charles George Mize, who was a prominent Zeta Psi.

The marriage was celebrated Wednesday evening at the Presbyterian church, the double ring ceremony in the presence of 300 guests. It was a university wedding, the bride being attended by Berkeley and Miss Ruth Kinkaid, and the groom by Miss Genevieve Wyllie of Berkeley and Miss Genevieve Wyllie of Berkeley and Miss Genevieve Wyllie of Berkeley.

Miss Helen Mize was attended by Benjamin Blackwood Foster of San Francisco, a classmate of the bride's, and the bridesmaids were the following Zeta Psi: Herbert Berkeley and Frederick Sterns Duhning of Berkeley, Zook Sutton and George W. It was a pastel wedding. All the maids were dressed in hoop skirts made in 1830 style and carried white garden bouquets. Little Lois Ann Langford, a flower girl, daughter of Superior Judge W. H. ## Railways Doing Well, Sproule Declares

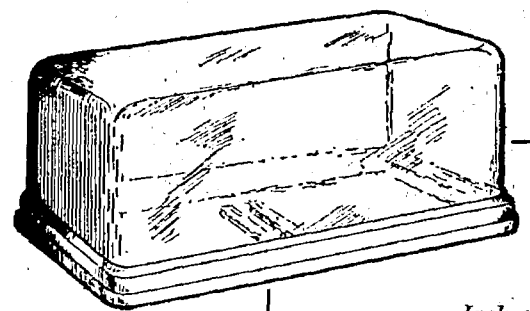

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—President William Sproule of the Southern Pacific Company, who has returned from a trip through Northeastern California, Oregon and Utah, is optimistic in his report of business conditions as he found them in the communities which he visited. He said:

The railroads are doing better, the farmers are making money, so are the merchants and manufacturers. If, in the hands of a wise government and a wise people, these conditions are fostered and are continued, we will all be happy, for all prosper together.

President Sproule said that a vast amount of Eastern capital is coming into the State, particularly mentioning the lumber business. At Ogden, he said, plans are being made for the holding of a jubilee exposition in 1919 to celebrate the anniversary of the completion of the Union and Central Pacific railways.

THUMP ON ACE
IN MARYVILLE.
MARYVILLE, Oct. 27.—Mush, who cooked didn't suit him. He trumped her ace in a whist game and his folks "made it hot for her." WOODLAND, Oct. 27.—Within an hour after Miss P. COUGHED
CONTINUALLY
Day and Night; Man Says
Nothing Helped But Vinol.

That statement does not surprise us. We have told the people of Oakland many times during the last ten years that Vinol is the greatest remedy for chronic coughs and colds that we ever sold. Mr. Dunning says: "I took a heavy cold, which settled into a chronic cough. It seemed as though I coughed continually day and night, so I could not get any sleep at all. I tried different cough medicines, but seemed to get worse instead of better. I went to the drug store and got a bottle of Vinol. Before it was half gone I was better, and its continued use cured my cough, built me up and I am feeling fine." Bert Dunning, 208 Tenth avenue, Scranton, Pa.

Vinol is not a palliative like cough syrups, but it is a constitutional remedy for coughs, colds and bronchitis, which removes the cause and stops the cough, and the recovery of Mr. Dunning was due to the beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptones and glycerophosphates which are contained in Vinol.

EPISCOPALS HOLD SITE DEDICATION

Revision of Book of Common Prayer Not to Be Completed for 3 Years.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 27.—Committees from the two houses of the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in connection with the final session today dedicated a site for a church to commemorate here the celebration of the Golden Jubilee of the election to the Episcopate of the Right Rev. Daniel S. Tuttle of St. Louis, presiding bishop of the church. Addresses were made by the Rt. Rev. William Lawrence, bishop of Massachusetts, George Wharton Pepper of Philadelphia and Bishop Tuttle.

Revision and enrichment of the Book of Common Prayer of the Protestant Episcopal church, in general convention here, cannot be completed for another three years at least. This was determined when the House of Deputies of the convention sent back several sections of the report of a commission appointed to suggest changes at the last general convention, with instructions to re-report at the next convocation.

The House of Bishops officially rejected the recommendation that five of the Ten Commandments in the communion service be shortened by the elimination of the reasons.

The problem of the racial episcopate was solved by the House of Deputies when it adopted an amendment to the church constitution providing in effect for the election by the synod of any province of a negro suffragan bishop having the authority, subject to the direction of the white bishop of the diocese in which he officiates, to officiate as such among his own people. To become effective the proposal must be approved by the House of Bishops and also by both houses at the 1919 convention.
